Tragic week strikes north county

by THOMAS STEVENS
Lakeland Newspapers

Blame it on the full moon or blame it on an increasingly violent society. Whatever the cause, northern Lake County experienced an exceptionally strange and crime-filled week.

The violence began with what should be used as a public service announcement on what one should not do when a friend attempts to drive home drunk after a long day of fishing. In his attempt to stop his friend, an Antioch man was reported to have stabbed his friend eight times on June 13 when he insisted on driving home.

Only days earlier, a Round Lake retired gentleman allegedly shot and killed an intruder in his home on June 11 after he told police he knew the thieves who stole $20,000 in personal items from him were coming back to steal more.

In Fox Lake, two Holiday Park patrons were struck by lightning when a freak storm brewed over the area on June 14, causing one victim to have to be revived after the strike and the other had a burned leg from the bolt.

Also, various disgusting crimes were committed near Lake Villa, a small sleepy village where small town values are still followed.

It began with a bicyclist coming home after picking up a pizza, who was killed by a still unidentified motorist while traveling on Cedar Lake Road on June 13 and continued with a Lake Villa man arrested and charged with the battery and sexual assault of a six year-old boy, who lived down the street from the accused, on June 10.

Now, with the Chicago riots over with and the moon slipping into a third quarter sliver, Lake County braces for another hopefully calmer week.

Dax family shows off its phenomenal mother goose

by THOMAS STEVENS
Lakeland Newspapers

In this day and age where fairy tales are few and far between, one Antioch family believes its goose family is on its way to remaking the Disney classic '101 Dalmatians.'

Al Dax, and his mother Loretta, live on a quaint 10 and a half acre piece of land off of Route 45 near Antioch that is ideal for caring for animals, especially geese where some 75 may live by the end of the summer.

"We have a Chinese White Goose that has laid some 50 eggs since March 13. That is phenomenal," said Loretta. "I've never seen anything like it."

Neither has anyone else. This mother goose, named Amanda, continues to lay an egg every other day and has shown no signs of stopping, said Al about his wonder goose.

"Domestic geese lay about 14 eggs a year," said Al. "We didn't plan on anything like this."

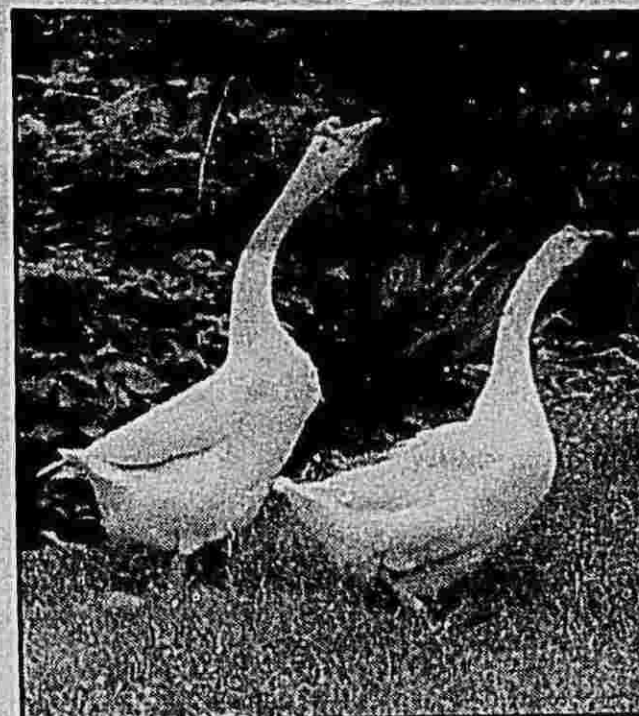

As of the second week of June, the two year-old goose has laid 51 eggs, with eight of the first dozen hatching to become strong young geese.

"Usually, the first several eggs aren't fertile enough to hatch a baby goose," said Loretta. "But in our case, Amanda has hatched almost 70 percent of her eggs. We are going to have a lot."

Presently, the Daxes' have 16 eggs in Amanda's nest and 22 in an incubator awaiting hatching later this month.

"It takes about 30 days for the eggs to hatch," said Al like a proud father.

The proud father, a strong, possessive

'Mother Goose' Amanda and Adam gander named Adam, has a story of his own which is unique.

"Adam almost died two years ago when a coyote came into the yard and killed his first mate and some other geese and ducks," said Al. "But somehow, Adam pulled through and lived, so we had to find him a mate."

And find him a mate they did. The new family of geese on the Daxes' property have eaten some 100 pounds of feed this year and it could get much worse.

"We are hoping for 75 percent hatching," said Al, who looks in amazement when he speaks of the number of eggs produced by Amanda.

Park district plans November tax vote

WILDWOOD—Public opposition and threats of legal action have forced the Wildwood Park Dist. to withdraw plans to sell three parcels of land and use the proceeds to purchase the six-acre John Rule property on Sears Blvd. Instead, two options for a tax referendum to appear on the Nov. 2 election ballot will be discussed at a Tuesday, July 21, park district meeting. One will allow a tax increase not to exceed .25 percent of the general fund assessed valuation. The other would allow the district to seek whatever funds its needs for the purchase.

School won't join gun-control push

PRAIRIE VIEW—Stevenson High School officials made the score on gun-control a one-one tie this week. After Kildeer-Countryside school officials voted two weeks ago to join a regional push for a total ban on handguns, Stevenson officials on Tuesday rejected the ban movement. Stevenson Board of Education members said they agree that handguns should be kept off school property but that banning guns is the business of politicians, not educators.

The board members' decision means Stevenson will not join a move to petition the state school-board association to push for tougher gun-control laws. Glenview school board members started the drive and are inviting school boards throughout the collar counties to join.

Administrators' action on gun incidents is sufficient to combat the problem, Stevenson Superintendent Richard DuFour said. In Stevenson's case, a sophomore who brought a handgun into the school in December without violent incident was quickly threatened with expulsion.

Voter signup drive underway in county

LIBERTYVILLE—Starting this week all 300 Republican precinct committeemen in Lake County are going door to door registering new voters. In addition, registration tables will be found in stores, community events and high-traffic businesses selected as Entrepreneur of the Year in the sixth annual Ernst & Young competition, June 11. The awards program recognizes entrepreneurs who have demonstrated excellence and extraordinary success in such areas as innovation, financial performance and personal commitment to their businesses and communities. Carter-Hoffman was selected as manufacturing entrepreneur of the year. The firm is the originator of heated banquet carts for pre-plated foods and a world leader in the food service equipment industry. "This (award) should be for the people in the company," said President Philip M. Hartung. "We give the leadership and are very involved in the day to day operations of the company but it is the employees who are the vehicle for our success."

Carter-Hoffman entrepreneur of year

MUNDELEIN—Mundelein based Carter-Hoffman was one of 13 Illinois locations. Many of the committeemen are authorized registrars, a goal the party lists as a priority this year. The top five committeemen in voter signups receive a ticket valued at $50 to next springs Republican Federation Dinner at the Marriott-Lincolnshire. Signing up new voters

Dems challenge GOP to debates

NORTH CHICAGO—All 37 Democratic candidates on the November ballot are challenging their Republican opponents to debates leading to the November election. "We want to discuss the issues," said county Democratic party Chairman Terry Link. "If the Republicans are such good office holders they need not fear a debate. We're not interested in mud slinging, but in having the public hear the views of the candidates." Link promises a vigorous, highly visible campaign by the Democrats in the fall. "This is necessary in order to restore the two-party system after decade of ineffective leadership and neglect in predominantly Republican-run Lake County," he said.

Clown worth $3,000 heisted from McD's

GURNEE—A world-famous spokesman for a fast-food chain was abducted from a Gurnee restaurant last week. But the clown in question was made of plastic, so the June 6 incident is a theft, not a kidnapping. Thieves made off with a statue of the hamburger-hawking clown and a five-foot bench it was affixed to from the McDonald's restaurant at 6380 W. Grand Avenue. The statue and bench, valued at $3,000, weighed 800 pounds altogether and were held to the ground by five bolts, according to police. The Ronald figure is about five feet high and is posed sitting with one leg crossed over the other, waving with its left hand. The bench is colored orange and red, employees told police.

State won't seek execution in case

WAUKEGAN—The Lake County state's attorney's office will not seek the death penalty for a Mundelein man accused of fatally stabbing his girlfriend, officials announced last week.

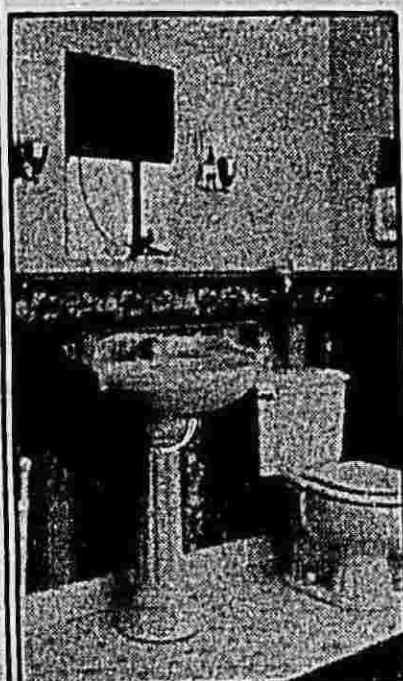

The announcement was a foregone conclusion, as the facts in the March 13 murder implicating Celerino Galicia-Alfara, 23, of 1444 Downing Place, do not make him eligible for the death penalty, said state's attorney's prosecutor Jim Kornak. If convicted of the murder of Roberta Martinez, 27, Galicia-Alfara, could face a minimum prison sentence of 20 years and a maximum of 100 years, Kornak said.

A plea bargain is unlikely to be negotiated by Galicia-Alfara's pretrial hearing May 7, Kornak predicted; but a bargain could always come later. The trial is scheduled to begin June 11; Kornak said. Galicia-Alfara's defense will be argued by Jed Stone, a high-priced, Chicago attorney with an impressive record, according to court officials.

Lightning-quick aid helps save two lives

by GREG MILLER
Lakeland Newspapers

Like a quick change in the weather — from watch to warning — Eric Guenther's status has gone from lifeguard to life saver.

Guenther, 20, rushed from his lifeguard post to help save the life of a pregnant woman when a lightning bolt hit at Holiday Park in Ingleside June 14.

Chicago residents Tina Chantaca and her husband Thomas were picnicking in a grove of trees when stormy skies moved in, and they sought shelter under one of the trees when it started to rain at around 2:15 p.m.

It's likely a bolt of lightning struck the tree, and the Chantacas were hit indirectly. Thomas, 29, suffered a leg injury, but Tina, 28, absorbed a larger dose of electricity.

Guenther said once he realized the situation, it took him about 30 seconds to run around the lake and get to the couple.

"The man was grabbing his leg, but the lady was laying on the ground," Guenther said. "She was having a hard time breathing."

About a minute later, Guenther said, Tina's lips began to turn blue, only the whites of her eyes were visible and her face turned white.

At that point, Guenther could no longer find a pulse — she had stopped breathing.

Guenther and an unidentified man who said he had emergency training began to administer cardio-pulmonary resuscitation (CPR). They performed at least 15 sets of the mouth-to-mouth and chest-compression technique.

"Just as the ambulance turned into the park, she started to breathe again," Guenther said. "Her breathing was still restricted, and I couldn't get her to say anything."

Fox Lake Fire and Rescue paramedics took over from there, but Guenther and his anonymous colleague had bridged the gap.

The Chantacas were rushed to Northern Illinois Medical Center in McHenry where they're recovering. No details on Tina's pregnancy were released.

Guenther, in his third summer as a lifeguard, likened the experience to being an athlete in a big game.

"You can't hear anything — you're just concentrating on the game. Nothing hit me until she was in the ambulance and gone. Then I thought, 'Holy Cow! What have I just done?' I was a little shook up."

Guenther said the irony lies in the fact that the Fox Lake Fire Department was at the park a week prior to the incident to recertify personnel in CPR.

"You hope you never have to do it, but I know now that it works," Guenther said. "It's a damn good thing to have — I'll tell you."

Guenther is a 1990 Grayslake graduate and a junior at the University of Wisconsin — Platteville. He's majoring in criminal justice and hopes to work for the national Drug Enforcement Agency (DEA) some day.

No vigilante, says man, 71, who shot suspect dead

by DAN BERNARD
Lakeland Newspapers

A 71-year-old Round Lake Beach man who police believe fatally shot a suspected burglar said this week he was not a vigilante, but a law-respecting citizen.

In a brief interview, Jelenko Jevremovic of 1603 Grove, acknowledged that he had shot the man, a 30-year-old Chicagoan, but said he did not know the man and thought him to be a criminal.

Of himself, he said, "Everyone will say he took the law into his own hands," Jevremovic said. "But just obey the law and you won't be behind bars."

Jevremovic said he does not want the "sympathy" of residents who would see him as a man who felt he had to fight back personally against crime.

The county state's attorney's office continued to mull whether to charge Jevremovic in the case. That will weigh on the outcome of county investigations of the shooting death, including a look at whether the subjects in last week's shooting were likely involved in the burglary of Jevremovic's home a week before. But Sheriff's Lt. Steven Townsend said officers do not intend to rush the investigation.

One version of the events of Tuesday night tells the story of a crime victim, Jevremovic, refusing to let himself be victimized again, and resorting to trickery to trap a possible thief.

Jevremovic, born in Yugoslavia of Serb nationality, regularly attends bingo games on Thursday nights at the Serbian Brothers Help hall in Lake Villa with his wife, Selena, county police say. On the 4th, the Thursday a week before the shooting, Jevremovic and his wife came home to find their home had been burglarized of about $20,000 in jewelry and coin collections, said Townsend.

When "strange" phone calls persisted throughout the week—callers hanging up as soon as they hear someone pick up—Jevremovic began to suspect that he would be targeted by the same burglars again and began planning to surprise them.

So on Thursday the 11th, Jevremovic went off to bingo as usual but came back earlier and parked away from the house on the 1600 block of Grove to conceal his presence. At about 9 p.m., the phone rang and Jevremovic did not pick up the line, according to county police. Jevremovic got his Italian, .380 automatic pistol ready.

Twenty minutes later, two males approached the front door and attempted to enter the home, Jevremovic claims.

Jevremovic "confronted" them and fired five shots at the men, according to police reports.

One of the bullets struck and killed one of the men, entering the right, middle part of his chest. Jose A. Rivera, 30, who lived once at 3136 Montrose Ave., Chicago, but lived lately in Skokie, staggered west from the front stoop on the east side of Grove, down the driveway across the east half of the road, and collapsing on the west side, leaving a blood trail, according to Round Lake Beach reports.

Rivera was quickly near death but rescue workers felt there was enough of a chance to resuscitate him that they transported him to Condell Medical Center in Libertyville, where he was pronounced dead, county police said.

Rivera had "about 30" aliases, including most recently "Marko Sarino," which he reportedly used in committing petty crimes like theft, said Townsend. Rivera had a long record of offenses, Townsend said. Like Jevremovic, Rivera was Yugoslavian, but police do not know what nationality he was, Townsend said.

Investigators later found four teeth on the ground at the scene that may be part of Rivera's bridgework.

Police said they do not know whether any of the four other bullets struck the man's companion, who fled and is still at large. No blood was found on the outskirts of the crime scene to suggest the other man was hit.

The Lake County Major Crimes Task Force, which is handling the investigation, had few leads this week as to the second man's whereabouts. But the report of a Round Lake Beach officer coming to the scene after hearing shots could contain a clue. Driving east toward the scene across Lakeshore, the officer saw a boy aged about 14 to 17, a 5-foot-6, 130-pound caucasian with dark hair and light shirt and pants, walking north.

The two alleged attempted burglars were strangers to Jevremovic, he said. "I never met (Rivera) at all a week before," Jevremovic said, adding he had not seen them at the bingo parlor.

After shooting Rivera, Jevremovic telephoned Round Lake Beach police, who arrived shortly after 9:30 p.m. When taken into custody for questioning, Jevremovic reportedly said in front of officers, "They won't come into my place again," according to a secondhand report in the Round Lake Beach report.

Jevremovic is licensed to carry a firearm.

Praise for county program targeting 'career criminals'

A Lake County State's Attorney's program to target the most prolific and hardened criminal has received praise from a national group.

The National Association of Counties has announced that the Lake County State's Attorney's office has been awarded a NACo 1992 Achievement Award for its Career Criminal Program. That program pinpoints repeat offenders for tough prosecution.

Larry Naake, the association's executive director, stated to State's Attorney Michael Waller that the National Association of Counties determined that "your program successfully addressed a significant concern in your county." Naake went on to state that this program would now be used as a resource by other counties "interested in implementing a program similar to yours."

The Career Criminal Program, directed by Waller, identifies repeat criminal offenders and, in cooperation with local law enforcement, devotes special investigative resources to develop cases against them, which are then handled by the most experienced prosecutors.

When the Career Criminal Program was begun, Waller noted that a federal study indicated that seven percent of criminal defendants commit 80 percent of the crimes. Commenting on the Achievement Award for the program, Waller stated that "the goal was to target the seven percent of criminals who cause the most harm in our community. They've had their chance to be rehabilitated, but instead have chosen to continue to pry upon others. This program has and will continue to take these career criminals off our streets so that we can all feel safer." Waller noted that each of the targeted defendants have received lengthy prison terms, with many receiving life in prison without the possibility of parole. One such offender is now facing a death penalty. "The award by the National Association of Counties is a recognition of the success of the program" said Waller.

The Achievement Award will be presented at the association's annual conference in Minneapolis July 8 to 11.

Big Brothers/Sisters shares lives

More than 13 million children in the United States are growing up in one parent families.

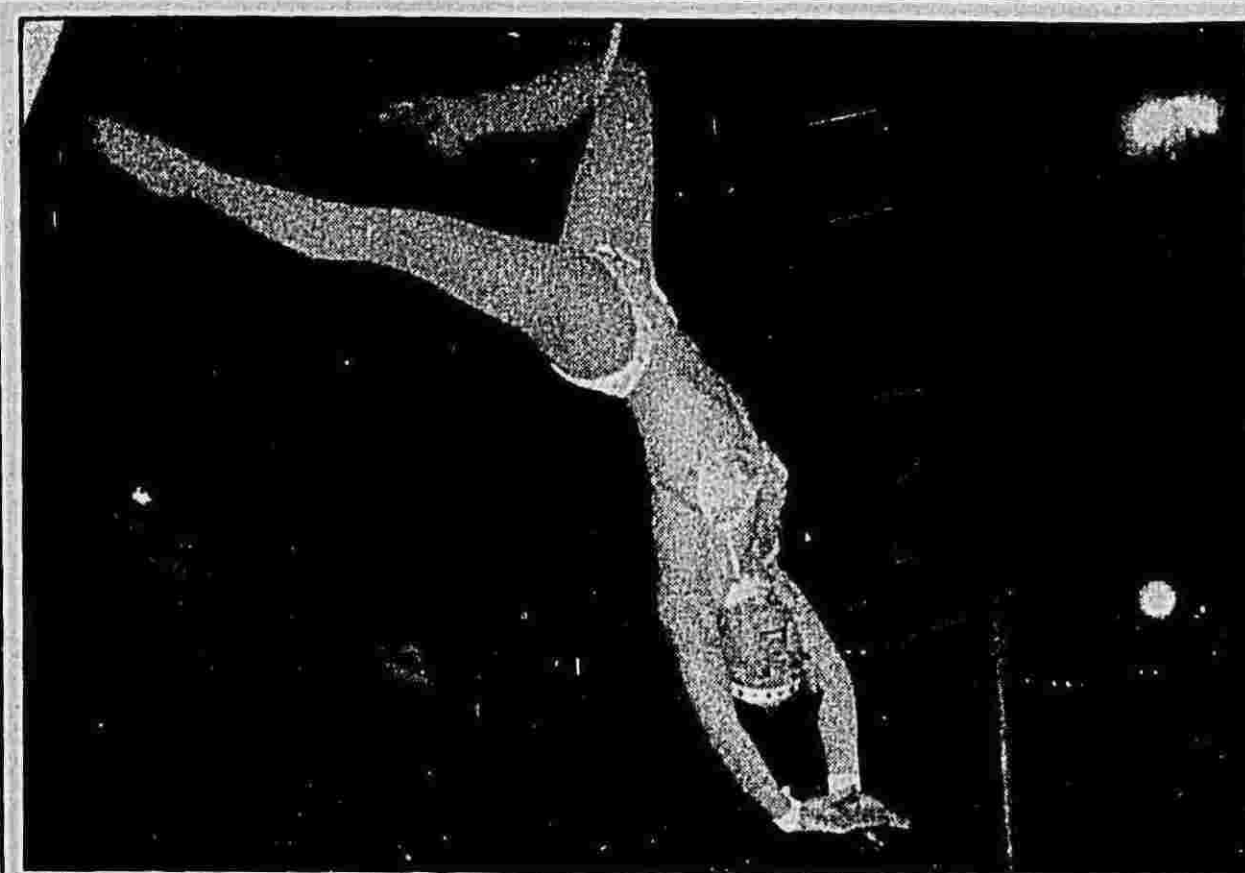

The pattern of instability and upheaval in family life continues to take their toll. Big Brothers/Big Sisters of Lake County is meeting this challenge by matching children, 5- to 14-years-old and pregnant/single-parenting girls, 18 and younger, with responsible adults who are willing to spend three to five hours a week for a minimum of one year with them.

Learn more about the program at the volunteer orientation meeting July 7 at the Big Brother/Big Sister at 3838 Grandview Ave., Gurnee from 6 to 8 p.m.

For more information and to make your orientation reservation, call (708) 360-0770.

CAUSE group gets support from State representatives

by THOMAS STEVENS
Lakeland Newspapers

State representatives John Matijevich (D-Waukegan) and Robert Churchill (R-Antioch) have joined forces with Lake County residents who want a moratorium on high voltage transmission lines.

At the Citizens Against Unsafe Electricity rally on June 14 at Lake Villa Intermediate School, the state representatives joined in the fray with 100 concerned residents in an effort to stop the construction of potentially unsafe power lines through Lake Villa to Antioch.

"If we are to err," said Churchill, "let us err on the side of caution."

Added Matijevich, "We don't have to kill people to get power."

A very encouraged Lake County Board Member Suzi Schmidt, who has been fighting against the power lines from the very beginning, was happy with the support from Springfield.

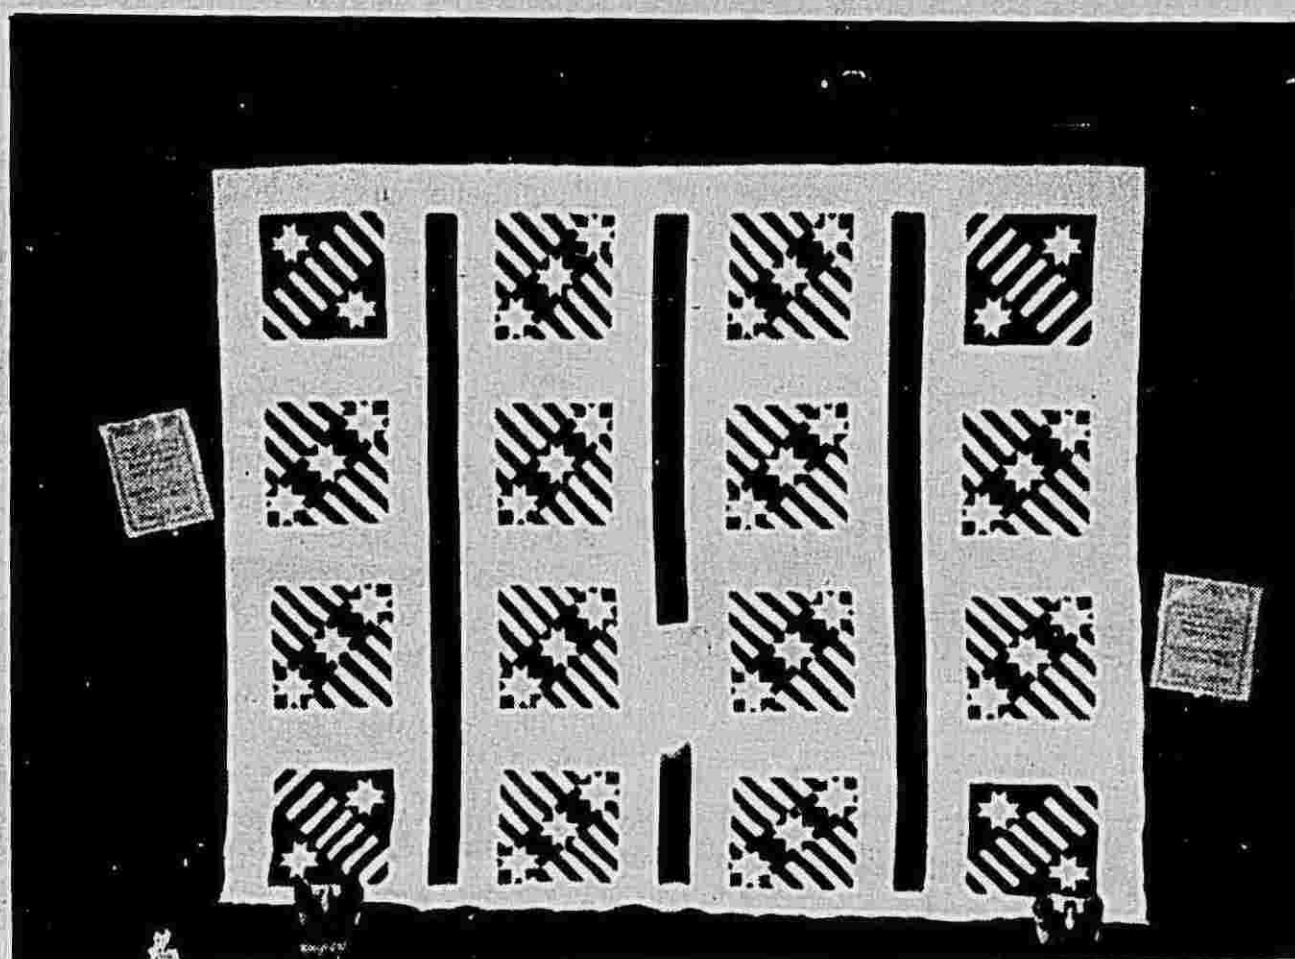

"We're very happy they are on our side," said Schmidt. "We're not saying we don't want electricity. We just want it done right."

Despite the claims of both the CAUSE group and Commonwealth Edison, who plans to build the lines, there is some debate on how unsafe high-voltage transmission lines are to the human body.

CAUSE members say they have documented evidence that links the transmission line to leukemia and cancer, especially in children. Edison states that no real evidence to that conclusion exists and Lake County needs these power lines to keep up with future demand.

The Illinois Commerce Commission, the governing body for utilities in Illinois, has tentatively scheduled four public forums on the subject of the Lake Villa lines. The dates and locations for the 7 p.m. meetings are: July 20 at the College of Lake County, July 29 at the Lindenhurst Village Hall, Aug. 4 at the Zion Village Hall and Aug. 10 at the Antioch Senior Center.

Additionally, the public is invited to the next CAUSE meeting, which will be held on June 25 at the Lindenhurst branch of the State Bank of Antioch at 7:30 p.m.

ACHS teachers use free time to construct Centennial Quilt

by THOMAS STEVENS
Lakeland Newspapers

Betsy Ross would have been proud of these four teachers from Antioch Community High School, who made a queen-sized quilt in honor of Antioch's 100th year.

Under the direction of Debbie Rummel, ACHS teachers Karen Chilcote, Carla Thompson and Robin Kessell used their spring break and several free periods during the final few weeks of school to make an historic piece of this year's Centennial celebration. The quilt consists of 16 blocks, each measuring 12 inches by 12 inches.

"During spring break we got together and began sewing at 6:30 a.m. and finished around 4 p.m.," said Chilcote. "It is always an enjoyable social event."

The group hopes that the quilt will be a big success at the raffle/fundraiser scheduled during Centennial Week. The proceeds from the raffle will go to the ACHS program fund.

"We hope to spend the proceeds on a faculty wellness center," said Rummel. "It would be nice for the faculty to have a place to work out, undisturbed by the students."

Raffle tickets are on sale at the First Bank and State Bank of Antioch for $2 per ticket and $5 for three tickets. "We hope to raise $1,500 to $2,000 from the raffle," said Chilcote, from the 1000 available tickets.

The quilt is presently on display at the State Bank of Antioch and will be the prize of the raffle given away at the Little Miss Antioch Pageant on June 29.

Briefs

The Antioch Area Chapter 387 of the American Association of Retired Persons will host a fashion show on June 30 at St. Peter's Frawley Hall featuring Centennial style worn by members of the chapter.

The fashion show, which is in the spirit of Antioch's Centennial, will include gown's and styles worn during the late 1800's in Antioch and will be hosted by Ellen Courtois.

Tickets for the show are $8 and the lunch and fashion show will be held from 11 a.m. to 1 p.m.

55th reunion

The 55th reunion of Antioch High School, Class of 1937, will be held in the Fairway Room at Hogan's Restaurant in the Antioch Golf Club on June 28. Brunch will begin at noon and visiting will occur afterward. No napping allowed. For further information, call Phyllis Horton at (708) 256-0315.

Army reunion

The Class 44I, from Williams Army Air Field, Chandler, Ariz., is looking for classmate Russell F. Ropenack, who is or was from Antioch. A reunion of this class is planned for November 1992. Anyone having information about Ropenack, please write to Paul Shannon, 2228 N. Sea Island Circle, Lakeland, Fla. 33809.

History banners

In celebration of the Centennial, the Exchange Club of Antioch has available red and white banners which can be used by businesses for decorating their stores and windows for the big events this summer. These banners can be purchased by donating $2 to the Exchange Club. The funds will be used in the Antioch area for projects which support the prevention of child abuse. These banners can be picked up at the First National Bank of Antioch, State Bank of Antioch or at the office in most of the local grade schools. For more information, call Claudette Skvarce at 395-6744 or Joyce Duesing at 395-3111.

Lawn sprinkling

The Village of Antioch now has lawn sprinkling and landscape irrigation restrictions. Until further notice, any sprinkling or irrigation is permitted only between the hours of 8 p.m. to 8 a.m. Anyone violating this regulation will be ticketed and fined. For more information, call the Village at 395-1881.

Police Beat

ANTIOCH

Employee Theft

An Antioch Ben Franklin employee, who allegedly stole two packs of cigarettes, was charged with theft under $300 and fired from her job at the store.

Noel B. Carlson, 22, of 39190 N. Spruce, Lake Villa, was arrested at the store by Antioch Police after allegedly stealing a pack of cigarettes two days in a row. According to police reports, store management pressed charges after Carlson did not pay for the cigarettes for a second time, proving intended non-payment.

Police released Carlson after payment of a $50 bond and assignment of a July 15 court date in Grayslake at 10:30 a.m.

Battery

A routine call to police about a disorderly person in an Antioch bar, ended with several charges filed against an Antioch man.

Thomas E. Krugar, 28, of 41233 N. Lincoln Ave., was arrested and charged by Antioch Police on June 5 for battery, resisting arrest and two counts of criminal damage to property.

According to police reports, Krugar cooperated with police until they refused to let him sit in the passenger seat of the squad car. When police placed Krugar in the back of the car, he began to hit his head on the steel cage and threatened to break the window and jump from the car. Once at the police station, Krugar allegedly refused to leave the squad. In an effort to remove Krugar from the squad, one officer received minor injuries after Krugar allegedly struck him in the face.

Krugar's court date is pending, according to police.

Criminal damage

The shooting out of several windows on a vacant downtown Antioch store caused an estimated $4,800 in damage on June 8 Antioch Police said. The store front on the 800 block of Main St., received damage to six windows. No projectiles, such as BBs or pellets were found. Police are investigating the incident.

Disorderly conduct

A $15 rent increase allegedly caused an Antioch man to verbally abuse his landlord before Antioch Police arrested him on disorderly conduct charges.

Steven E. Mieloszyk, 32, of 267 Rte. 173 #1, was arrested and charged by Antioch Police for allegedly shouting obscenities and threatening his landlord, who filed the complaint, police said. Mieloszyk received a June 24 court date in Fox Lake at 10:30 a.m.

Cannabis possession

Two Antioch youths were charged with possession of cannabis by Antioch Police on June 9 after police approached them in an effort to find out what they were doing.

Christopher M. Johnson, 17, of 649 Drom Ct. #2, and an Antioch juvenile were standing behind some shrubbery when police came by to ask the boys what they were doing behind the bushes. According to police reports, the arresting officers witnessed the two youths place cannabis into a pipe. A small sandwich bag containing cannabis was found at the site by the officers. Johnson received a July 15 court date at 10:30 in Fox Lake.

Disorderly Conduct

An Antioch man was arrested and charged by Antioch Police for disorderly conduct and consumption of liquor in a public park after he allegedly shouted obscenities and brought liquor to a public park on June 10.

Ralph A. Lindmark, 34, of 299 Oakridge Ct. #2b was arrested by police after they responded to a call about a disorderly man in Williams Park. Police found Lindmark shouting obscenities and holding a beer, which is illegal in a public park without a permit from the village.

Lindmark received a July 15 court date at 10:30 in Fox Lake.

No Valid D.L.

Antioch Police originally stopped Justino Fernandez, 26, of 267 Rte. 173 #12, on June 11 for non-functioning headlights on the car. After a few minutes of investigative work by the police, Fernandez was also charged with driving without a valid drivers license and driving without insurance.

Fernandez posted a $100 bond and received a July 29 court date in Grayslake.

Lipski wins state medal

Antioch High's Scott Lipski concluded this track season on a bright note by achieving something few Antioch track athletes have done lately - win a state medal.

Bronchitis and the state-level competition and weather all were working against the Antioch senior.

"It was a windy day and cooler Saturday. Nobody ran good times," Coach Hahn said of the meet at Eastern Illinois University.

Lipski had a 1:58.1 in the qualifying round Friday, but had a 1:56.8 Saturday.

"We feel he did real well. He just wanted to go out and do it," Hahn said of Lipski's overcoming of the illness.

Lipski's medal was the only other medal for Lake County qualifiers other than Joyce. The medal earned Antioch a point in team standings. Joyce's title earned Stevenson 10 points.

"This is only our fourth medal in 26 years I have been here," Hahn said. "He wanted to get a medal his senior year and he did."

Lipski will be headed to the University of Iowa this fall.

The 3,200 relay team ran into trouble with consistency and did not qualify. Dave Remter, a junior, threw 147-2 in the discus. "He needed about four more feet to qualify for the finals," Hahn said.

Hahn said the season went about as much as predicted, with the key loss Eric Nelson being sidelined by illness. Nelson is headed to the Air Force Academy.

Milowski earns degree from Marquette University

by LIZ SCHMEHL
(708) 395-5380

Congratulations are in order for David Milowski of Antioch. Dave recently graduated from Marquette University after earning a degree in mechanical engineering. Dave attended Grass Lake School for his elementary education and Antioch Community High School. He graduated ACHS in 1984. He is the son of Gayle and Tom Milowski of Antioch. Congratulations, Dave, and good luck with that job hunting.

In the blood

If you have been reading "Hometown Goodies" for any length of time, you know how much I enjoy hitting the "slots" and "Blackjack" table at the Indian Casino up North. Once I start pulling the lever on those one-armed bandits, there is no stopping me. Recently my daughter, Karen Schmehl, and her friend, Tricia Olenick, enjoyed a four-day trip to Las Vegas. The weather was beautiful and the food in the local restaurants was delicious. However, Karen basically came back with a sore arm (from pulling those levers) and a pocket full of money.

Just like her mother, Karen became addicted each time those bells started to ring, buzzers sound and coins start to spill out. Karen would go down to the casino early morning while Tricia engaged in her morning beauty ritual.

They would enjoy a breakfast together, a walk and a moment or two around the pool and shortly thereafter Karen would get the itch and just had to go back in and try her luck "just one more time." Somehow in between all that gambling Tricia convinced her to go shopping, take long walks and sun bathe.

Four days later both girls came back with gorgeous tans, a lot of fun memories, and a few new articles of clothing. One girl (Tricia) came back a pauper, while the other (Karen) came back with the same amount of money that she started with. That's what she calls a great vacation—all that fun, good meals, a few articles of clothing and a gorgeous tan not costing a dime!

Mission impossible

Did you ever run across an individual that did everything so well and so far above and beyond the call of duty that their superb capabilities outshined anything and everything you did? I have had the pleasure of knowing such a person for almost twenty-seven years now.

My dear friend, Sylvia Vaughan (most of you know her as "Sylvia from the city") is such a person. When it comes to motherhood she is one of the most giving, loving, energetic moms I have ever met. When raising her three children she always found the time, ways and means to put her children above and beyond anyone or anything else, including herself.

This never ending attitude has now continued on into their adult years. About one and a half years ago her baby (20-year old Renee) ventured out into the working world and good-old, capable mom was on hand to help get Renee established in an apartment close to her place of employment.

work, Sylvia hopped aboard the family car and putted merrily on her way to the store. Upon seeing the table, she agreed it was

Hometown Goodies

Mom and daughter bonded further as they shopped for the many items needed to furnish and equip her new residence. One thing they did not purchase was a dinette set. Recently Renee ran across a cute one on sale at a Venture store near her building. Once again good old mom came through. While Renee was a cute, reasonable priced, and would fit the bill just fine for the apartment.

However she ran into one slight snag. After paying for her purchase she innocently (and comically) inquired, "When will the table be delivered?" This humorous assumption produced a chuckle from the cashier and she seemed to get a certain satisfaction in remarking, "Oh, we don't have a delivery service" (as she counted Sylvia's money into the cash drawer.)

Sylvia's talent for quick thinking solved the problem in no time. She solicited the aid of two stock boys to help her load the boxed dinette into the hatch back of her car. It took all three of them to heave—ho it in, but they managed to do so. After thanking the boys, she drove back to the apartment.

She soon realized she had one more dilemma to deal with—how to get the heavy package from the car to the second floor apartment. I assumed she opened the box and took it up piece by piece. However, these efforts were unnecessary when two young, strong, viril men came to her aid and offered to carry it up.

Needless to say Renee came home that evening giving another witness to one more example of the ingenuity of this person called "mom." Sylvia's philosophy has always been, "Where there's a will there's a way" and a little luck of meeting up with some strong, young, able and willing men went a long way in this instance!

Class clown-turned-teacher understood students' world

by DAN BERNARD
Lakeland Newspapers

Tom Evers hid a turkey in the principal's closet one time and scared the tar out of him. He used pull out a cap-gun in class as a dramatic prop and fire it at an unsuspecting student. He'd sweep girls off their feet and give them mock kisses.

Sure, Evers did outrageous stuff as a student at Round Lake High School. But all the aforementioned pranks he did as a teacher.

That's no surprise to those that knew Evers during the nearly 24 years he taught English at Round Lake High. When the Antioch resident contracted kidney and lung cancer and had to stop teaching this year, his former students called and wrote and came from all over to say they remembered and appreciated his fresh and personal approach to learning.

Evers succumbed to the disease Wednesday, June 3, at the age of 53. Many past and present students attended a memorial service at St. Ignatius Episcopal Church in Antioch last Sunday.

The hardest part about the service for Evers' daughter, Tami Rich, was "having all those people that cared about him together, and him not in the middle making it fun," Rich said.

"I run into students of his all over the country," Rich said, "and it's always the same praise: 'Mr. Evers? Ah, he was the coolest teacher! I remember this one time he...' and they would go off into this story of him totally stepping over the bounds of what a teacher would do."

His family and friends recalled that Evers' often goofy behavior always had a serious goal: To get through to the students who might otherwise go uneducated.

"He got thru to a lot of kids that would have fallen through the cracks," said Paula Scott, Evers' sister. "He used to say, 'They give me all the hardest students,' because he really knew how to get through to them. He knew because he saw himself in them."

Evers took on the hardest-luck cases, the ones labeled as stoners, screw-ups or blow-offs, and he made them learn. When all his students wanted to do was talk about sports, he turned the sports pages into the class text to show them how to appreciate reading. He made it a regular class offering, "Sports Lit."

"He had heavy-metal, pot-smoking, LSD kids, and he got them educated by taking his Black Sabbath and Rare Earth records to school and teaching them the lyrics," said daughter Rich, of Kenosha, Wis. "He was one of the kids. He was one of them."

Tom Evers was an unconventional high-school teacher. That's why he had unconventional level of success, said those who knew and loved him.

"If you took Peter Pan, and Socrates, and Robin Williams, and Martin Luther King, and Jesus Christ, and Gayle Sayres, and turned them into a teacher," said Rich, "that would be my dad."

Evers understood goof-offs because he started off as one, at Round Lake High School. He wasn't exactly voted most likely to succeed. He got C's and D's, cut class and played pranks habitually.

After graduating in 1956, Evers joined the army, and only when the army showed him results of intelligence tests did he realize he was smart. He went to DePaul University in Chicago for a teaching degree, married his first wife, and decided to make a point.

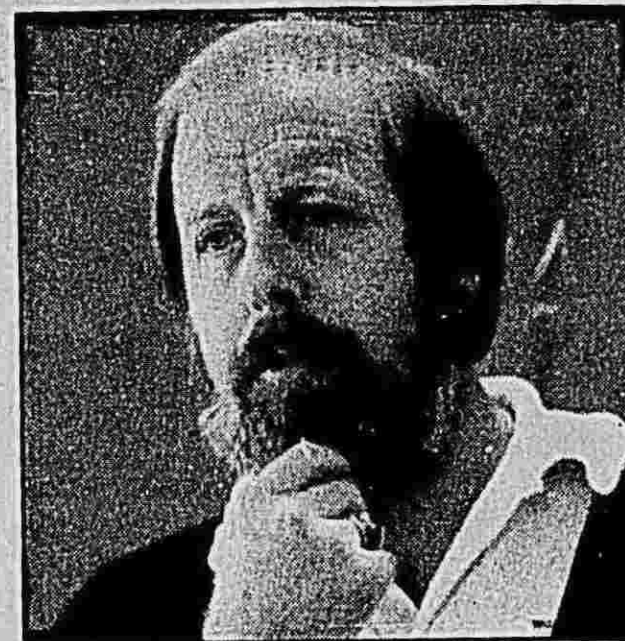

"When he got his teaching certificate, he went back to the district and said, 'Look, I made it,'" said Cynthia Evers, his second wife. "It was basically like the 'Welcome Back, Kotter' (TV) series. He wanted to go back to the school where he graduated." Evers was hired, and started working his personal style of education on two-and-half decades worth of students.

One of those students was Cynthia Toboldt. A favorite student, she returned to visit Evers after graduating. One year she came back and he had gotten divorced. Evers married Cynthia in 1981. The two lived in northeast Antioch since 1987 with their adopted daughter Danielle. Evers was active in Antioch's St. Ignatius church, and the family asked that any memorial donations be made to the church.

Apart from teaching, Evers had served as the high school's English Division head, track coach and basketball coach. He also taught night classes in business communications at College of Lake County for six years.

Evers did a turnaround from someone marked to fail to someone who who helped others succeed—without forgetting who he once was.

"In my lifetime, the man has been a student, a golfer, a sailor, a musician, a philosopher, a humanitarian, a liberal, a partier, a hippie, an athlete, a Christian and a friend," Rich said. "And he did all of those things 100 percent."

Doctors removed Evers' cancerous kidney in 1987. He was fine until 1990, when it was discovered the cancer had spread to his lungs. He taught briefly in fall 1991, then went on leave. But Evers still hung tough. In an open letter to students published in the RLHS newspaper, Evers told the kids to "be proud of where you come from," Cynthia Evers said. "And if you really want something, go for it, because nothing comes easy."

Evers' inspiration to others will be remembered. Melody Brown of Round Lake, the mother of one of Evers' students wrote to the ailing teacher, "We often say 'Carpe Diem' around here to remind ourselves and each other to take advantage of the day; now we are adding 'Tom Evers' as the code word for 'It's time to be brave,' 'Show courage,' or 'Don't be a wimp.'"

Evers is survived by his wife Cynthia, son Tom, Jr., of Buffalo Grove, daughters Tami and Danielle, mother Romona Evers and brother Gerald "Hoot" Evers of Tampa, Fla., sister Paula of Morristown, N.J., and a grandson, William.

Da Bulls, da bums

America's growing penchant for civil disobedience and looting dampened the historic sports achievement of the Chicago Bulls, a second consecutive world championship that is being savored by Bulls fans throughout the Chicago area.

After several days of reflection and study, it has become evident that the rabble spilling out in all directions after the championship game and the ensuing riot was not a celebration of sports fans. The basketball victory and the riot might have had some relationship, but connecting the two is missing the point, an avoidance of the opportunity to do something about preventing future riots and looting.

That's why Mayor Richard Daley's condescending evaluation of the Sunday night rampage was not only silly, but a frightening example of officialdom's resignation over urban ills. Daley's recognition of breaking a window and grabbing something as socially acceptable to celebrate is preposterous. Try that in our town and you'd get tossed in the slammer in a hurry.

Better, political leaders ought to be concerning themselves with how to head off this frightening trend toward violence. Back in the 1930's when an outbreak of kidnapping numbed the nation, federal law dealing harshly with kidnappers was enacted. The time is at hand for a federal anti-looting law. Society must send a message that looting will not be tolerated as a kind of social statement or "to be expected" in times of celebration, as Mayor Daley so lamely suggested.

Next: gasoline tax

After sponsoring a year-long study to find ways to make housing more affordable in Lake County, County Board members adopted an impact fee ordinance on new construction to create a new revenue source for highway construction following many months of deliberation that will drive up the cost of new housing.

If the linkage of these two events is a bit puzzling, keep in mind that we live in a county that has just passed the half million mark in population and is on a fast track for the second half million. Housing is getting more expensive all the time and roads are getting more crowded. In this environment, things don't always make sense when solutions are sought.

County leaders deserve applause for approving impact fees that will increase the price of a new home $224 the first year and go up to $447 after three years. In municipalities, impact fees long have been accepted as a fitting and proper way to narrow the gap between the time new construction is utilized and when it "comes on line" as part of the local tax base. The county ordinance was long overdue. It was the right thing to do.

Still in search of more highway revenue--about $13 million more per year--the County Board will be pushing for a four cent per gallon gasoline tax for road building. There's a Catch 22 involved in the new impact fee ordinance in which the state requires matching funds for road funds raised by impact fees. So the county gasoline tax is just around the corner or as soon as the Lake County Republican delegation to Springfield can push through enabling legislation.

Here's a situation where county officials are doing the right thing and the wrong thing at the same time to solve essentially the same problem, the deterioration of a highway system brought on by rapid growth and development.

So whatever happened to the concern about affordable housing? No one has suggested it yet, but maybe the long range game plan is to have home seekers camp out in tents along the new highways that are going to be built.

Avoiding morality

News from the daily business section one recent day was pretty ugly. Before turning the page, we read about:

---Sears auto centers charged with fraud in a California investigation.

---The Federal Trade Commission accused Abbott Laboratories of conspiring to overcharge the government for infant formula used in a poverty program.

---General Motors Corp. moved to punish its GMAC officer for failure to detect a $436 million scam.

---Confirmation was aired that soybean traders at the Chicago Board of Trade frequently ignored rules and joked about it.

Keep in mind that the Sears and Abbott cases are unsubstantiated charges. Still, the happenings serve to illustrate that the business community doesn't have a monopoly on morality or the absence of wrongdoing.

There is a misconception that all the crooks are in public office or jousting with law enforcement officers in the streets. Hardly the case. Outright lawless behavior and ethical breaches occur everywhere in our society leaving one to wonder whether anything is sacred.

There are at least two schools of thought as to how corrective measures in public morality can be taken--raise the levels of morality in government to provide leadership to a vulnerable populace; reform business practices as an example to wayward officialdom.

Either way would be welcome. What is needed is a moral reawakening with broad-based public support. Trouble is this approach would require the involvement of individual citizens. And we don't want to get involved in anything, do we?

Viewpoint

Rte. 22 resists tug-o-war into modern times

by BILL SCHROEDER

Despite turmoil abounding on all sides, Rte. 22 in south Lake County has remained a tree-lined, two-lane ribbon of concrete spanning some of the most rapidly growing areas in the region.

That's a big problem. Rte. 22 is a bucolic, thoroughfare, harkening back to an era when the heaviest traffic was farmers in horse-drawn wagons hauling milk to the Soo Line depot at Prairie View.

Today, Rte. 22 is the link that ties together an estimated 30,000 cars going to office parks in Lincolnshire, Stevenson High School, 800-employee Quill Corp., mushrooming subdivisions in Buffalo Grove and Long Grove, and the congested Lake Zurich business district.

Politicians and business leaders insist that the thing to do is four-lane Rte. 22 from Rte. 41 in Highland Park to the McHenry County line. The facts are that residents along the highway, principally homeowners in Lincolnshire and Lake Zurich who would be uprooted by reconstruction and widening, don't give a hoot about gridlock or inconvenience. They would just as soon leave Rte. 22, known as Half Day Rd. on the east end and Main St. on the west end just the way it is with its trees and homes close to the passing traffic.

This leaves the roadway in a strangely fascinating situation. All of the other major east-west highways in Lake County have been widened or altered. There even is talk about six-laning Lake-Cook Rd. Shades of the L.Z. Freeway. How has Rte. 22 avoided the demands for modernization?

I have a strange kinship with Rte. 22, which is sort of a "main street" for the Schroeder family. On one end, my paternal grandfather operated a dairy farm overlooking Half Day School. At Prairie View, my maternal grandfather built a towering white clapboard house for retirement after his farming days were over. This is the place where I enjoyed watching from a screened porch an occasional car pass during weekend and summer visits as a boy. The only time there was a traffic backup in those days was when a long freight went by on the Soo Line.

Rte. 22 was many things to our family--a corridor for farm work, an outlet to shopping in Highland Park and Libertyville, a pathway for friends and neighbors, the route to swimming parties at Lake Zurich, and, with no bow to undue modesty, a sort of lover's lane for an aspiring young businessman and a striking redhead who became my parents.

It's kind of eerie, but I still can remember the names of the folks who lived along that stretch during my boyhood days including Aunt Laura Sprague, for whom a school in Lincolnshire was named. Mrs. Sprague lived across the road from the big white house which still stands.

The church where I was baptised is located on Rte. 22. A historical footnote to the much-maligned highway is that the one-room Vernon Townhall where Adlai Stevenson twice voted for himself (I presume) in unsuccessful bids for the presidency of the United States was located on Rte. 22. During World War II, military convoys from Ft. Sheridan used Rte. 22 as the major westward passage to maneuvers in remote sectors of the county.

How long will Rte. 22 resist being dragged into the 21st century? Lincolnshire Mayor Barbara LaPiana says that wishes of residents will prevail. Lake Zurich Mayor Jim Kay is working overtime to provide a workable solution to moving Rte. 22 traffic through the village.

I'm not so sure Rte. 22 stands as a symbol of resistance as it provides a pleasant driving experience in a country atmosphere. All you have to do is avoid rush hour. I still can arrange that, but unfortunately there are so many motorists who can't. That's the rub of the whole thing.

Letters to the Editor

School board keeps word

Over the last years I have written several letters criticizing the way taxes have been constantly raised. Two years ago a massive tax increase was passed by the Dist. 95 school board. They then promised to hold the line on taxes for as long as possible, guaranteeing one year should we pass the referendum. It sounded suspiciously like something we had learned before, the type of promise too often simply ignored after the election.

I am then writing to congratulate the board on keeping its word and holding the line this year on further increases. Check your property bill. With the increased tax base, the individual rate actually went down. Rather than go back and examine if this showed they took too much earlier or just are managing things better is less important than the simple fact that they gave their word and kept it. Next time you see a Dist. 95 board member, let them know you've noticed...and remind them to hold the line again this year.

Detecting Fake ID's

Editor:

You accurately reported the apprehension of a minor who used false identification to obtain service from one of my employees. It also reported that my employee was charged in the incident as well.

As the case against the minor is still pending, I cannot make comments on it. However the charges against my employee were dropped by the village on June 2, 1992. We do not and will not knowingly serve anyone not legally over the age of 21. We request identification routinely. Persons without identification or with questionable identification are not served.

However, as this incident shows, the false identification being made today by professionals is virtually undetectable. Absent some action against the persons supplying false driver's licenses and other picture identification, the retailer is in an impossible situation. The only means available to curtail this business is to severely punish those who are caught supplying or using false identification.

Penny-per-drink fee can be highly useful

by PAMELA F. RODRIQUEZ

For several years now, there has been much ado about the serious drug problem in Illinois, but there hasn't been enough action.

The rhetoric has led to enormous frustration in our communities because we have not yet had a sustained, consistent and effective attack on the problem. To be sure, great strides have been made on the law enforcement end: we've enacted and enforced stricter drug laws, and as a result have filled all the state's jails and prisons to overflowing.

We've built 14 new prisons in 14 years—and still the justice system is overwhelmed because of the dramatic increase in drug-related crime.

It is time to look beyond law enforcement as the only means of winning the war on drugs; if we are going to stop substance abuse in Illinois, we must reduce the demand for illicit drugs. That means we need treatment and prevention.

It cost Illinois roughly $25,800 per offender to incarcerate someone, while treatment for that same person would cost from $4,000 to $14,800. Criminal justice experts and treatment professionals have joined forces championing treatment and strong, effective, community-based sanctions as sound strategy for handling nonviolent substance abusing offenders who are overburdening our court system.

Treatment, in conjunction with intensive community supervision, is a logical, effective, safe, and fiscally responsible alternative to incarceration for addicted, non-violent offenders.

The Drug-Free Illinois initiatives set forth by Gov. Thompson were working, but now they are being dismantled. Our legislature is currently threatening to make further cuts in the budget of the Illinois Department of Alcoholism and Substance Abuse (DASA). The cuts that were made last year hurt the system, and we have paid for it in increased drug-related crime, longer waiting lists, and record levels of cocaine use among arrestees.

Illinois cannot afford to slash treatment any more.

I urge you to let your senators, representatives and our Governor that we cannot afford to deny access to substance abuse treatment if we intend to win the "war on drugs." Treatment funding must be restored to FY92 levels.

Illinois' fiscal problems are real. The revenue options are limited: a penny-per-drink user fee or increased state income taxes. How can anyone argue that a penny-per-drink is unaffordable or unfair if it goes to support the prevention and treatment of substance abuse?

Will we again be "penny-wise and pound-foolish?"

Editor's note: Pamela Rodriguez is an aide with Treatment Alternatives for Special Clients (TASC), which maintains offices in 13 Illinois cities including Waukegan.

one in weeks—my car slid when I applied the brakes and rear-ended the vehicle in front of me (fortunately there were no injuries and relatively little damage). The police were called and soon appeared in the person of Deputy Sheriff Kevin McHugh.

I want to congratulate Sheriff Clinton Grinnell on having officers of this caliber on the Lake County force. He is a professional in the finest sense of the word: while investigating the accident he behaved in an objective, calm, precise—even stern—manner, yet he also displayed unfailing courtesy and patience throughout.

Since my car appeared unsafe to drive, Deputy Sheriff McHugh offered me a ride which I gratefully accepted. The conversation we had during this ride impressed me even more: this young man loves his profession and he is dedicated to it. He wants to help and "to make things better," and he feels that he can make a difference.

He does indeed! Not only am I personally grateful for his assistance which turned an upsetting incident into a positive experience but, much more importantly, I feel that a man like Deputy Sheriff McHugh, with this kind of humane yet clear-eyed professional attitude does an invaluable public relations service for the image of a law enforcement which has received so much negative publicity lately. He should be appreciated and encouraged.

REQUEST FOR PROPOSALS FOR THE SALE OR DONATION OF LAND

The Lake County Affordable Housing Commission, in order to provide greater housing opportunities for Lake County residents, is seeking proposals for the sale or donation of land located within Lake County. Funds for this purpose are provided by the County of Lake's Community Development Block Grant Program.

The land must contain a minimum of 6,500 square feet and buildable for a single family home. All parcels submitted will be considered on the basis of the following information: location, lot size, price, ability to construct a single family home (zoning and other applicable codes), availability of sewer and water, and free from environmental encumbrances.

By voluntarily offering a property for sale as described above, it is understood that the County of Lake will forfeit its right to employ eminent domain proceedings if a mutually acceptable price cannot be agreed upon. Further, that if a mutually satisfactory price and sales agreement cannot be reached, the County of Lake will not acquire the property.

The owner waives their rights for all relocation and replacement dwelling benefits to which they may otherwise be entitled as established by the Community Development Block Grant Program and related federal rules, regulations, and statutes.

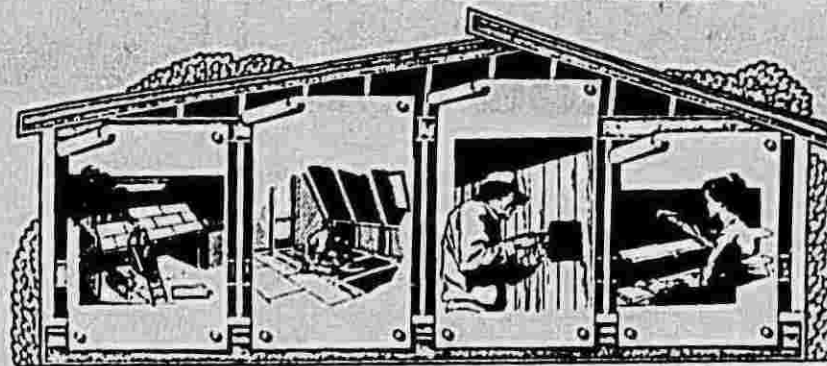

Proposals should include: legal description, site map, location map, asking price of the land, evidence of ownership, and property owner's name, address and phone number. All proposals must be submitted by 5:00 p.m., June 30, 1992.

To request information or to submit a parcel for consideration contact Julie Adams, Lake County Affordable Housing Commission, 18 N. County Street, Room A-803, Waukegan, IL 60085, 708-360-6350.

Look what GOP is doing now

TWO JUNKETEERS

Why is it that everyone seems to hate Congress, but they love their congressman?

That's the way it works here in Lake County.

We have two earning $129,500 each—John Porter (R-Wilmette) of the 10th Dist. and Phil Crane (R-Mount Prospect) of the new 8th Dist.

They spend much of their time in Washington. And when they're not traveling back here to see us, they take junkets around the world. Some are at taxpayer expense, others are perks from companies or groups courting the congressman's favor.

Crane got 13 freebie trips in the past year. Included were jaunts to Honolulu, the Far East, San Juan, Puerto Rico and Miami. Crane took his wife, Arlene, on a seven-day trip to San Juan in late March paid for by a pharmaceutical company. Norwegian Caribbean Cruise Line and Royal Caribbean Cruise Line underwrote two trips to Miami in January.

Porter didn't do too bad, either. He took nine free trips in the past year. These were to South Africa, Naples, Fla.; Sun Valley, Calif., three times; Hilton Head, S. C.; West Virginia, Chicago and Sun Valley, Idaho.

Three of the trips were to golf tournaments. More than half were to resort areas. Porter took his wife, Kathryn, on all but one trip.

Yes, being a Congressman is a tough job. But it sure is nice work if you can get it.

PLAYING IN PEORIA

Try as it may, the GOP couldn't make much news out of last week's state Republican convention in Peoria.

Nothing of note happened. Texan Ross Perot's name came up more than just about anyone else.

Sam Skinner of Lake Forest, the president's chief of staff, didn't take the beating the rest of the U.S. press is giving him for allowing George Bush's popularity to sink.

Even Illinois' Ed Madigan, U.S. Secretary of Agriculture, got off easy. That's because farm prices are lots better than last year at this time.

Rich Williamson was there masquerading as our next U.S. Senator. The wealthy Kennilworth lawyer is a pro-choice, would-be politician airing negative radio commercials about his Democratic opponent, Carol Moseley Braun. One calls her the ultimate political insider.

Williamson, for those who would like to know, is on a leave of absence from President Bush's Advisory Arms Control Committee. Until January he was chairman of the Federal Home Loan Bank of Chicago. That agency oversaw the 47 failed Illinois savings and loans that will cost taxpayers $7-$8 billion. We're the No. 3 embarrassment behind Texas and California.

One of those failed thrifts is Olympic Federal Savings of Berwyn where Madigan was a director.

How did all of this play out in Peoria? We'll see in November.

'Friend' charged with stabbing fishing buddy

by THOMAS STEVENS
Lakeland Newspapers

In what should be on a poster of what not to do when someone gets into a car drunk, an overzealous Antioch man has been charged with the stabbing of a friend on June 13.

Edward Maynard, 37, of 25651 W. Florence Ave., was arrested at about 9:30 p.m. on June 13 after reportedly stabbing his friend Jerry Robers, 35, of Antioch, eight times with a pocket knife, a Lake County Sheriff's report said.

According to the report, the two men had been drinking and fishing at one of the Chain O' Lakes on June 13 when they got into fisticuffs after returning to Maynard's home in the late evening.

After the fight, Maynard, at 5 feet 8 inches tall and 165 pounds, attempted to remove the much larger Robers, 6 foot 2 inches and 210 pounds, from Robers' vehicle in an effort to stop him from driving while allegedly under the influence.

After failing to remove Robers,

Maynard allegedly stabbed Robers several times in the left torso region, said the report.

Robers, who later notified police of the incident, was treated at St. Therese Medical Center in Waukegan, where he was in stable condition until his release.

Maynard, who is charged with aggravated battery, was held at Lake County Jail in Waukegan until a June 15 bond hearing brought his release.

Grandstand entertainment slated for 1992 state fair

Fairgoers who gather at the state fair in "The Spirit of Excellence" will have the opportunity to enjoy a wide-ranging line-up of grandstand entertainment that ranks among the best state fair entertainment in the country.

"From electric pop to country, from hard rock to a capella, we truly have something to offer all musical tastes," said Governor Jim Edgar. "This year's entertainment line-up not only features a perennial fair favorite, the Beach Boys, it also spotlights several new attractions."

Four of county music's brightest stars—Clint Black, a huge crowd pleaser, with special guests Billy Dean, Aaron Tippin and Little Texas—will appear on the grandstand stage the night of Aug. 19.

Country favorite Alan Jackson will be joined by Diamond Rio on Aug. 17, and Travis Tritt and Tanya Tucker, two headlines on their own, will appear on the stage Aug. 22.

First-year sensation Color Me Badd, one of the hottest young groups in the country, will bring their music to the state fair on Aug. 14 and the B-52's, pop rock chartbusters whose song "Love Shack" is a mainstay on the music scene, will appear Aug. 21.

Tesla with special guest Firehouse, which is one of the hottest shows in the nation, will rock at the grandstand the night of Aug. 15. The Beach Boys will bring their classic music to the fair on Aug. 18.

To round out the grandstand's impressive line-up, fair officials have lined-up internationally acclaimed rap star Hammer on Aug. 20.

The state fair in Springfield will run from August 13 to 23. This year's theme — "The Spirit of Excellence" — is an honor of the exhibitors, participants and fairgoers who make the fair the great family entertainment it is each summer.

"Their contributions make this fair one of the best state fairs in the nation," Edgar said. "This year's fair will honor the many unsung champions who call Illinois their home."

Tickets for the fair entertainment will go on sale 10 a.m. Wednesday, July 8.

All concert and motorsports tickets may be purchased at the grandstand ticket office or ordered by mail from the Illinois State Fair ticket office, P.O. Box 19427, Springfield, Ill. 62794-9427.

Checks or money orders should be made payable to the Illinois Department of Agriculture.

Tickets may also be purchased at all Ticketmaster outlets. Mastercard and Visa holders may also purchase tickets by calling the special Illinois State Fair/Ticketmaster line at 1-800-488-7000.

Light up the night, a safe home investment

"Human Beings do Their Dastardly Deeds in the Dark". This is not a catch-phrase for the '90s. In fact, this thought can be found in the Bible. The message, however, is quite clear. This week, we're going to look at how we can use this idea to our advantage.

Dollar for dollar, the very best investment you can make in home security is proper lighting. Let's start with interior lighting. When you leave home do you turn on your front porch light while the remainder of the house is dark? If you answered yes, you've told every potential burglar that you are not home and that you are unaware of proper security procedures. Even if you answered no, does your house LOOK and SOUND like someone is home? Even if you are just leaving for the evening, leave several lamps on timers. Consider leaving the stereo or TV or radio on a timer in addition to some lights to simulate the normal routine you follow when you are home. Consider having a neighbor open and close drapes as you would if you were home. A few inexpensive lamp timers can save a potential victim from MOUNDS of headaches.

Now, let's look at outside lighting. Today there are a few more choices when it comes to outdoor lighting. Incandescent lights, (light bulbs, sealed beams, flood lights, etc.) are the only choice for motion sensor lighting where the light must come on instantly and will turn off after a short period of time. They are the worst choice when it comes to economy. While the initial cost of the bulbs and fixtures are low, incandescent bulbs use a lot of electricity for a small amount of light received. The balance of the energy is wasted as heat. Incandescent bulbs also burn out rapidly and need to be replaced.

Fluorescent lights are more efficient and the bulbs last longer than incandescent. In our climate, fluorescent outdoor lighting is not practical because fluorescent lights give off less light the colder it gets. On a cold winter night, they may not light up at all. One of the most popular outdoor lights today are mercury vapor lights. You've seen them used as street lights, parking lot lights, barn and garage lights. These lights cast a cool white light which lack some orange and red tones, but will light a large area for about 4 1/2 per night.

Metal halide casts a very color accurate light at half the cost, (twice the efficiency), of mercury vapor. You can find these lights in use at automobile dealers where they are used to show off the cars at night. A shiny paint job virtually sparkles under metal halide light, your home will too! Another place you'll find metal halide is at a jewelry counter where they rely on the brilliance of the light to compliment fine gemstones. No other light can show off your home and protect it for a lower cost to operate. Metal halide lamps have a life span of anywhere from 10,000 to around 20,000 hours depending on lamp size and hours of operation per start. The initial cost of metal halide may be a deterrent to some home owners. At a retail price of around $130.00 per 25 watt fixture, some people may not find metal halide right for them. There are other choices.

High pressure sodium lights can be found lighting many highways in America. It's familiar orangish glow can be seen for miles around most of our major cities. While color accuracy is not great, most colors can be detected under high pressure sodium. High pressure sodium is about 2 1/2 times more efficient than mercury vapor and the initial cost of the fixture is around $75.00 for a 35 watt light. Remember that a 35 watt high pressure sodium lamp puts out as much light as a 175 watt light bulb and lasts approximately 24,000 hours.

Okay, so you can trace your family tree straight back to Ebenezer Scrooge and you want the last word in economy lighting.

TIMES MORE LIGHT than an incandescent light for the SAME AMOUNT OF ELECTRICITY! Some people actually become

Cop Comment

Low pressure sodium casts a monochromatic tangerine orange light under which all color distinction disappears. You can see a cat on your front lawn from two blocks away but you won't know that color it is. Burglars really don't care if you know what color they are, they would rather you never saw them at all.

Initial cost is similar to high pressure sodium, however, low pressure is almost 50 percent more efficient than high pressure sodium and gives off over SEVEN physically ill from spending time under a monochromatic light source. This could be an advantage if you are lighting an area where you don't want people hanging around at night, (no amount of makeup on the planet can make a person really attractive under low pressure sodium lighting. This alone may curb image conscious teens from gathering at inappropriate places.)

We light the night for many reasons; Protection, safety, and sometimes because people just feel more secure in a properly lighted environment. While experts and researchers sometimes debate the actual effect of lighting on crime, a body of research upholds the fact that security lighting has the greatest effect on controlling crimes against persons, and also reduces burglaries and auto thefts. Adding lighting to an area where none had existed before is bound to reduce the crime rate simply because it has increased the ability for the crime to be observed.

Now the question on your mind is WHICH light is best for me? ANY light you use is better than no light at all. It is important that when you have almost any security lights installed, you have them installed on slow acting photo sensors. These types of sensors can help extend bulb life by not turning off your lights during a lightening storm or whenever car headlights pass over the sensor. They also save the inconvenience of waiting for the lights to warm up all over again.

The responsibility for the safety of you and your property is primarily yours. Therefore it is up to us as individuals and groups of neighbors to look out for our own safety, and we all know it is easier to find what we are looking for if we turn on a light.

If you have any questions or comments we would love to hear from you.

Pet Sitters provides quality pet care with no worries

Lakeland Newspapers

It's 11 a.m. Do you know where your pet is?

Libertyville's Sandy Wisniewski does if it's in the hands of Pet Sitters of America, Lake County's only pet sitting and Doggy Day Care service.

"Your pets need time to socialize while you are away at work or whatever. Most kennels can't offer the freedom or socialization we can with our pet sitting or our new Doggy Day Care programs," said Wisniewski.

For the past five years, Pet Sitters of America has provided Lake County residents a safe, reliable alternative to putting favorite pets into a kennel or leaving them alone in the house for long periods of time.

The Pet Sitters program offers clients the satisfaction and piece of mind that their pet will be taken care of by a trained professional while they are away. The best part of the program is that the pet gets to stay in its familiar surroundings, your house or apartment, which reduces stress on the pet.

"We have received great responses and comments from our clients," said Wisniewski. "We succeed because all of our employees love animals. They love their job."

When Pet Sitters comes into your home, they provide your pet with daily pet walking and clean up, transportation to vet/groomers if needed or requested by the owner, animal care advice and training for the pet owner, care of house plants and a human home security system.

"If you're going away for a long time, this is much better for your pet," said Wisniewski. "Kennels are not a healthy place for your pet emotionally or physically. Many transmittable diseases are passed from one animal to another in areas where many pets are kept."

The philosophy of Pet Sitters is to provide quality care for the pets of their clients, while not disrupting the privacy of the owner's home.

"We understand how important your pet and your home is to you, and in turn it's just as important to us," said Wisniewski.

In addition to the pet sitting program, Wisniewski expanded the scope of her organization by beginning a Doggy Day Care program on May 1. The new program, which should accept its first day-time pet during the next few weeks, will help give pet owners the piece of mind that their pet will be cared for during the day.

"The idea for Doggy Day Care came from one of my clients who called me," said Wisniewski. "She, after using our services, wanted to bring her dog to me while she went to work."

The day care will include feeding, exercise and socialization with both humans and other animals.

"The day-time is a long time for a pet to be home alone," said Wisniewski. "We will exercise your pet and give it the opportunity to socialize."

Another special service Pet Sitter's provides is the Puppy Potty Training, designed for those young dogs who have not yet mastered the art of doing business.

The service includes an initial orientation, a working manual, three months of mid-day walks and a graduation certificate.

Other Pet Sitter services include a quarterly Pet Sitter's newsletter and a referral service for any type of pet related service.

For more information on Pet Sitters of America or any of its services, call Sandy Wisniewski at (708) 816-4744.

Business Briefs

Vernon man launches firm

Vernon Hills—A former Vernon Hills businessman has formed a new office equipment company, Imagetec, LP in Buffalo Grove's Corporate Grove. Richard Cucco is president of the company, which will sell and service office equipment.

Imagetec began business June 1 in 9,480 square feet of space in The Corporate Grove at 1495 Busch Pkwy. Cucco previously had been chief operating officer of Camadon, Inc., Vernon Hills, and general manager before that of Saving, a manufacturer of photocopiers.

Imagetec initially will handle Toshiba photocopiers and facsimile machines, Hewlett-Packard laser printers, facsimile equipment and additional office equipment such as duplicators.

Association elects new members

Lake County—The Chain O'Lakes Unit of the Automotive Service Assn. of Illinois elected officers for the 1992-93 year. Voted in were President Mike Frisby, Vice President Joe F. Zuniga, Treasurer Al Alexander. The Automotive Service Assn. is dedicated to increasing the professionalism of the automotive service industry and to keeping the membership informed of recent trends in the industry. Meetings are held the first Thursday of each month at the Hampton Inn in Gurnee. For further information call (708)623-3314.

Mitsubishi moves headquarters

Lincolnshire—Mitsubishi Lithographic Pressed has moved its U.S. headquarters into the Lincolnshire Corporate Center, 600 Barclay Blvd., Lincolnshire. Mitsubishi will consolidate into its new building three area operations now located in Arlington Heights, Elk Grove Village and Romeoville. An extensive study was made to find the new location with more than 40 buildings surveyed in Cook, Lake and DuPage counties. The many amenities of this corporate park and its rapid access to O'Hare International Airport and to lodging and convention facilities made it stand out from the other possible sites.

Save money with unique program

Lake County—Help-U-Sell of Lakes Area is offering a unique money saving program for home buyers and sellers in Lake County. Help-U-Sell of Lake Area charges a predetermined fee to help sellers sell their home. Example, a home priced at $120,000 would have a savings of $4,050 to the seller, based on a six percent traditional real estate commission. Many sellers can't or don't want to pay six or seven percent real estate commission. Help-U-Sell's lower fee enables the seller to help sell their home and save some money. This service will be offered by Gloria Hopkins at 101 S. Milwaukee Ave. Lake Villa.

Gurnee has 4 star bank

Gurnee—Gurnee National Bank has received Bauer Financial Reports Four Star Rating. This rating is given to financial institutions based upon their financial performance each quarter. Based upon Gurnee National's financial statements that were submitted to federal regulators for the quarter ending Dec. 31, 1991; Bauer Financial Reports bestowed their Four Star Rating to the bank.

Suggestions on making a profit on a tax liability

by ALAN NADOLNA

Everyone is delighted to take part in a situation where everybody wins. Here is a typical example.

I serve on the board of directors of a non-profit organization that provides critically important services to functionally disadvantaged adults and children.

The organization needs a home. Like most other agencies of this type, funds are limited. Our studies have shown that owning is superior to renting, so we had a dilemma.

We located a perfect building for sale recently. By doing some digging, we were able to determine the identity of the property's owner.

Taxes

We met with the owner and determined that this was a building that had a significant potential capital gain. The total cost basis was $300,000 and the asking price was $1,300,000. This means there was $1,000,000 subject to capital gains.

If the building were sold for $1,300,000 the owner would pay about $300,000 in capital gains taxes. There would also be considerable commissions and other costs related to the sale of the property.

The building's owner, a widower, has a son. The value of the property, after taxes, would be fully taxable for federal estate taxes. In this case the federal estate taxes would be 50 percent. The net result to the son would be $500,000 left from a $1,300,000 sale.

Donate
I suggested that the owner donate the building. He was incredulous naturally. However, I then walked him through the process that fit this situation.

A charitable remainder trust was set up with the non-profit agency as the ultimate beneficiary. Donate the building to the trust.

The first result of this is an income tax deduction—based on several factors like life expectancy, interest rates, etc.

We had now created a the property were sold.

The positive results were just beginning to become evident to the property owner. His income was increased. The building was revocable life insurance trust—so it was completely free of estate taxes. The property owner's son would receive $1,300,000 instead of $500,000 - an increase of $800,000 in ultimate value. This was paid for entirely with income tax savings.

The non-profit agency now had a home. They would inherit the building at the owner's death. All future appreciation, from the date of the completion of this process, will benefit the non-profit agency.

Many property owners have been reluctant to sell because of capital gains taxes. Many others have been unable to sell because of market conditions. With the right set of circumstances, this same procedure could benefit worthwhile public service organizations and property owners.

For more information or to discuss specific situations contact Associates in Financial Planning, call (312)220-0337.

Editor's note: Alan Nadolna is a consultant to financial service organizations and is a financial advisor to corporations and individuals. He is a member of a panel of financial experts preparing Success Strategies. tax deduction instead of a capital gains liability. The non-profit agency would now make payments to the building owner, instead of paying rent. These payments were based on a sale price of $1,300,000 and were higher than the income the owner could generate from the $1,000,000 left after capital gains taxes were paid—if removed from his ultimate estate because it had been donated to the Charitable Remainder Trust—this would save $500,000 in estate taxes.

Profit

We used the income tax savings generated by the donation of the property to purchase life insurance on the property owner. The insurance was owned by an ir-

Solid hiring prospects seen for Lake County

The summer job market for the Lake County area looks healthy, according to hiring intentions just released for the third quarter by Manpower Inc., the world's largest temporary help firm.

"The Employment Outlook Survey findings for July, August and September show that 31 percent of the local businesses interviewed intend to add more staff, seven percent plan labor reductions and another 59 percent foresee no changes," said Lake County area spokesperson Chuck Bartels. "The remaining three percent are unsure."

Bartels said that in general employers are usually quite upbeat during the summer months. "Current results are, however, down slightly from those of a quarter ago, when 30 percent anticipated adding personnel while three percent predicted staff cuts.

For the next three months job opportunities are most likely in construction, non-durable goods manufacturing, transportation/public utilities, wholesale/retail trade and finance/insurance/real estate.

Volunteers needed for celebrity golf championship

Hundred of energetic golf enthusiasts are needed as volunteers for the 1992 Michael Jordan/Ronald McDonald Children's Charities (RMCC) Celebrity Golf Championship over Labor Day weekend, September 5 through 7 at Kemper Lakes Country Club in Long Grove. The golf tournament benefits RMCC and The Michael Jordan Foundation.

"The three-day event will feature a celebrity-amateur round, a celebrity qualifying round, a celebrity/PGA Tour pro tournament with teams competing for $204,000 in prize money," said Michael Carey, tournament director. "It should be a great experience for anyone who loves golf. We need 500 more volunteers to commit to working all three days of the tournament."

Opening day of the tournament will feature celebrities from the US Men's Olympic Basketball team, the NBA, the NHL, retired NFL players and the entertainment field. Each personality will team up with foursomes comprised of corporate sponsors and general participants paying the $10,000 individual entry fee.

The Celebrity-AM will be played September 5 on both Kemper Lakes and the soon-to-be completed (August) Royal Melbourne courses.

On September 6, the 60 to 70 celebrities will play in a Celebrity Qualifying round. Scores will be tallied and a cut made to 10 golfers, including Michael Jordan, to compete in the final day's event.

On Labor Day, the 10 winning celebrities will be paired with 10 PGA Tour pros to play in a two-man "best ball" team competition. Players will compete for a $50,000 grand prize ($25,000 to each winning player).

Volunteers will be assigned to various positions available for the three-day tournament. Experienced caddies are also welcome.

Civic organizations, fraternities, sororities, clubs or other organized groups are encouraged to volunteer and will have the opportunity to "own" a specific job category.

A volunteer party will be held at the end of the event. Interested golf enthusiasts should call the tournament office (708)575-5774.

CLC golf day to benefit students

The College of Lake County Foundation will sponsor its third annual Scholarship Golf Day on June 29, at Glen Flora Country Club in Waukegan. Featuring a buffet lunch, 18 holes of golf, cocktail reception and a banquet, the event is hosted to raise money for student scholarships which last year benefited in 179 CLC students.

The day will begin with registration and lunch at 11:30 a.m., followed by tee-off at 1 p.m. A reception and banquet will be held in the evening beginning at 5:30 p.m., followed by a raffle drawing. Prizes for the raffle include two round-trip tickets to London, compliments of American Airlines, an IBM personal computer, custom-made golf clubs, weekend golf packages, tickets to professional sporting events and other prizes.

The featured hole-in-one prize for this year's golf outing will be a Buick Park Avenue, compliments of Liberty Buick. Other contests will include closest to the pin and longest putt.

The event is organized by the CLC Foundation board of directors. The cost to attend the day's event is $250 per person. Tickets for the reception and banquet only are $50. Raffle tickets are $10 or $25 for three.

For information and reservation, or to purchase raffle tickets, call the CLC Foundation at (708)223-6601, ext. 401.

Keep lawns healthy, naturally

Once upon a time, Lakeland area homeowners thought they had to dump a ton of chemicals on their lawns to keep them green and beautiful. But, in the long run, that practice proved harmful to turf and even more dangerous for the planet.

Here's some good news: It's now possible to grow a luxurious carpet of grass worthy of your neighbor's envy—without hurting the environment. How? By planting one of several new turfgrass mixtures that are kinder and gentler to your health, soil and water.

Two of the newest, Heat Wave and Defender, both from Loft's Seed, Inc., are designed to meet environmental needs by requiring less water, fertilizer and pest control and less frequent mowing. Heat Wave combines sturdy, deep-rooted grasses (tall fescue, Kentucky bluegrass and perennial ryegrass) to produce a mix that is low maintenance, as well as heat and drought resistant. Defender grass seed contains endophytes, naturally occurring fungi that resist insect damage without insecticides. Look for these new turfgrass mixtures at hardware stores, chain retailers and local lawn and garden centers.

By nature, organic lawns are stronger, healthier and more immune to attacks by weeds and insects than chemically-treated ones. They also require much less labor.

In fact, the less work you put into a chemical-free lawn, the better the results. For example, one long, deep watering each week is far more beneficial than shorter, daily waterings. A good, healthy soaking six or eight inches deep allows water to reach the grass roots, and enables them to withstand heat and drought. Don't water again until the top inch of soil is thoroughly dry.

Thinking about putting off mowing the lawn? Go right ahead. Mowing is stressful on grass, especially if mower blades aren't sharp. Dull blades shred grass, making it vulnerable to insects and disease. You'll know it's time to sharpen the blades if the lawn appears gray or white after mowing.

To maintain an attractive, healthy lawn, cut only the top one-third of the grass at each mowing. If your lawn is three inches high, then remove just the top inch. Remember, the recommended height for cutting depends on the grass type, where you live and time of year.

When grass is growing rapidly, you may need to mow the lawn more than once a week. This may sound like extra work, but it's really not. A lawn maintained at the proper height is easier and faster to mow.

And, instead of throwing away lawn clippings, reuse them as mulch in the garden. Clippings are an environmentally-sound way to control and discourage weed growth, and help the soil stay moist longer. They also work as a natural fertilizer. Make sure however, that clippings are dry. Wet clippings tend to mat together, which may damage any grass trapped underneath the clumps. Should it rain after you've mown the lawn, simply rake up the clippings for composting.

If fertilizers are used according to their package directions, they don't pose an environmental problem. Though chemical fertilizers quickly green up the lawn, they do so at the expense of good root development. Instead, use a slow release, organic nitrogen fertilizer to guarantee steady nourishment.

Begin fertilizing newly seeded lawns when the grass reaches a height of one and one-half to two inches. But, don't overdo it. Over fertilizing, even with an organic fertilizer, will only encourage weed growth and may cause runoff into water systems. Follow directions on the package for the right amount. Then water immediately. Established lawns should be fertilized twice a year, once in mid- to late May, after the lawn's flush of spring growth, and again in mid- to late October. Be sure to use the amount I recommended for each specific turfgrass.

Growing the lawn of your dreams doesn't have to turn into an environmental nightmare when you take the time to do it right.

Grow bigger, better tomatoes

Tomatoes are not only the most popular vegetable, but also one of the easiest to grow. Here are some tips for growing your best tomatoes ever:

- Begin by selecting the variety or varieties you will grow. Tomatoes come in all colors from white, yellow, orange and pink to red. Sizes may vary from no larger than a marble to more than a pound.

- Select healthy transplants growing in containers rather than bare-root plants. Transplants should have green rather than yellowing or purpling leaves.

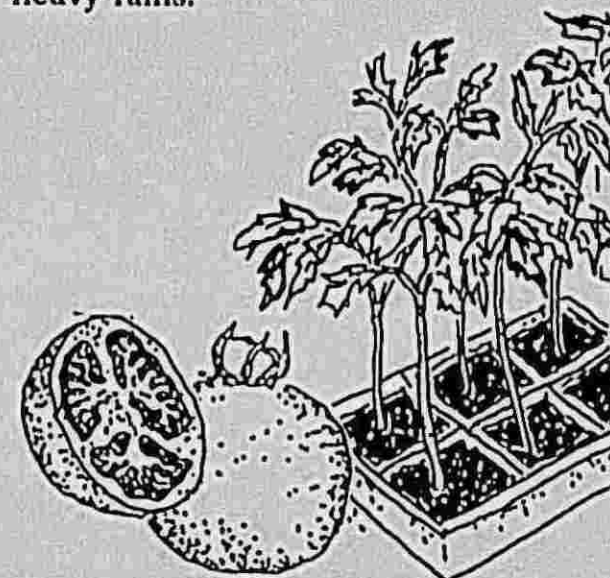

- Apply lime and fertilizer according to soil test recommendations. Too little lime or too little water will increase blossom-end rot. Too much nitrogen fertilizer will also increase blossom and rot and may cause the flowers and young fruit to drop off.

- Supply one to one and one-half inches of water per week. Mulches may be used to retain soil moisture.

- Use wire cages or stakes to support your plants. Much less fruit will rot if it is kept off the ground.

- To control insects and diseases, apply insecticide weekly and after heavy rains.

- Harvest your tomatoes when they have developed a ripe color and refrigerate them to maintain the highest vitamin content.

Tomatoes properly cared for should produce fruit all summer and fall.

Special plant care during rain shortage

With the Lake County area already inches below its average normal rainfall for the year, experts at the Chicago Botanic Garden have several suggestions on how to take special care of lawns, plants and shrubs.

According to Kate

Jerome, plant information specialist at the Botanic Garden, it is much better to use infrequent deep watering for a lawn than frequent light sprinkling. "People should let a drip hose or a soaker hose run for a couple of hours instead of just hand sprin-klings for a few minutes. This will keep the roots deeper in the ground," Jerome says.

"Shallow watering encourages shallow rooting and leaves the roots open to drying out. If people are using sprinklers, they are wasting water because of evaporation, so it is better to use a drip irrigation system or soaker hose," she adds.

In order to keep most plants green and healthy, they need an inch of water every week. Lake County Homeowners can let their lawns go dormant, but they must give the lawn a quarter-inch of water every two weeks to keep the crown of the plants alive.

For taking care of trees, shrubs, annual and perennial beds, the Botanic Garden, has two recommendations.

Mulching the plants because mulch will act as an umbrella to keep the soil and root systems cooler and will conserve moisture in the soil. Do not use a plastic sheet under the mulch because it will prevent water and air from getting to the root zone, which means the roots can't breathe. If people use organic mulch, like woodchips or compost, they are improving the soil because the woodchips break down. Second recommendation is to control weeds. Weeds are detrimental to plants because they will absorb water and nutrients that plants need.

For Lake County homeowners and gardeners concerned about trees and shrubs, the Botanic Garden recommends infrequent deep watering. It's important to provide supplemental water for trees and shrubs during dry spells, especially for those planted within the last couple of years. Also, it is important to take care of trees and shrubs because they are costly and hard to replace.

The Chicago Botanic Garden is a 300-acre living museum owned by the Forest Preserve District of Cook County and managed by the Chicago Horticultural Society. It is located on Lake Cook Road in Glenview, one-half mile east of the Edens Expressway.

Walk-behind mower safety tips

Following are several safety tips for seasoned mowers and beginners.

•Read the operator's manual to brush up on proper safety procedures and maintenance information.

•Leave matches and smoking material in the house so you won't absently smoke while pouring fuel.

•Dress in long slacks and leather shoes with traction soles for greater protection.

•Never put your fingers near the cutting blade while the mower is running. Use a stick or tool to clear a clog.

•Shoo children and pets from the mowing area so they won't be in harm's way should the blade throw a stone or nail.

•When mowing on a hillside, mow back and forth across the face of the slope so you're less likely to fall on the mower if you trip.

•Try to mow in a forward direction at all times.

Chipper, shredder may be answer to gardening debris

Yard and garden waste has become a serious problem not only in Lake County, but throughout this country. In the past, many homeowners carted the debris from their yards to a municipal landfill and forgot about it. Now, however, with solid landscape waste consuming approximately 25 percent of all landfills, as many as 10 states have entirely outlawed the dumping of such materials, and as many as 30 other states are taking such restrictive actions as charging homeowners to use landfill facilities.

To get around this problem, many Lake County homeowners are looking for ways to convert and recycle grass clippings, pine needles, leaves, twigs, branches and other yard refuse. One solution is to use these materials to make your own mulch and compost. In fact, it's more than a solution in some areas; it's a law.

A Chipper/Shredder/Mulcher allows homeowners to reduce twigs and branches as thick as 2 1/2 inches in diameter into woodchips that are ideal for a weedkilling mulch. These woodchips, which have an average lifespan of two years, are also an excellent material with which to create professional-looking pathways and decorative landscape borders. Besides wood.

A Chipper/Shredder/Mulcher can effectively convert other plant materials into mulch. As a safety precaution, when using any chipper/mulcher, be sure to wear gloves and a pair of goggles to protect your hands and eyes.

Leaves have long plagued gardeners. In fact, leaves from the average autumn raking of a medium sized lawn can easily fill a multitude of garbage bags. With municipalities charging anywhere from 50 cents to $3 per bag for pick up, it's no wonder so many homeowners burn leaves, despite the numerous environmental, legal and potential safety consequences.

There's a sensible, easy alternative to burning leaves or putting bag after bag of them out on the curb. Shred them and put them to use as a mulch in the garden. A chipper/shredder/mulcher can reduce eleven bags of leaves into one. Spread two-to four-inches deep around trees, shrubs and flower beds, shredded leaves make a great mulch. They are also an excellent source of organic material and can be mixed into the soil to aerate heavy clay soils, retain moisture in sandy soils and hold in valuable nutrients in any and all soils.

Perhaps nothing beats a rich compost for adding texture and nutrients to your soil. Shredded leaves, woodchips, grass clippings and pine needles make superb compost when combined with eggshells, coffee grounds, vegetable peels and other organic matter from around the kitchen. The decomposition of these materials creates a natural humus loaded with nutrients.

For best results, mix about one part carbon-based plant material (including leaves and compost activator) to one part nitrogen-based plant material, such as grass clippings and vegetable peelings. The smaller the particles you add to your pile, the faster they will break down and blend together. Make sure that there are no weeds among the plant material added to the mix.

By converting yard and garden debris into mulches and compost, Lake County homeowners can help eliminate the problems caused by dumping and burning, while revitalizing and protecting their gardens. Remember, proper recycling is more than economically sound, it's environmentally wise.

June gardening tips

With the gardening season entering its peak months, the Chicago Botanic Garden offers these tips for June gardening.

For the outdoor garden:

- Stake tomatoes to direct growth upward if space is limited.

- Make another planting of beans and sweet corn and enjoy more harvests.

- Blanch (tie leaves up over the developing head) cauliflower when head begins to form. Self-blanching varieties do not need to be tied. Harvest seven to 12 days later.

- Harvest peas and raspberries regularly.
- Stop harvesting asparagus and fertilize in late June.

- Sow seeds of cabbage, cauliflower and broccoli for late season crop.

- Early June is the last opportunity to plant pumpkins in time for Halloween.

- Apply mulch to the garden to reduce weeds and retain moisture.

- Cultivate unmulched areas of the garden early to remove small weeds. Hand pull weeds in mulched areas while still small.

- Early detection of insects in the garden will result in less damage and easier control. Routinely inspect plants each week.

- Deadhead (remove spent flowers) of annuals and perennials. This encourages more blooms and reduces use of energy to produce seeds.

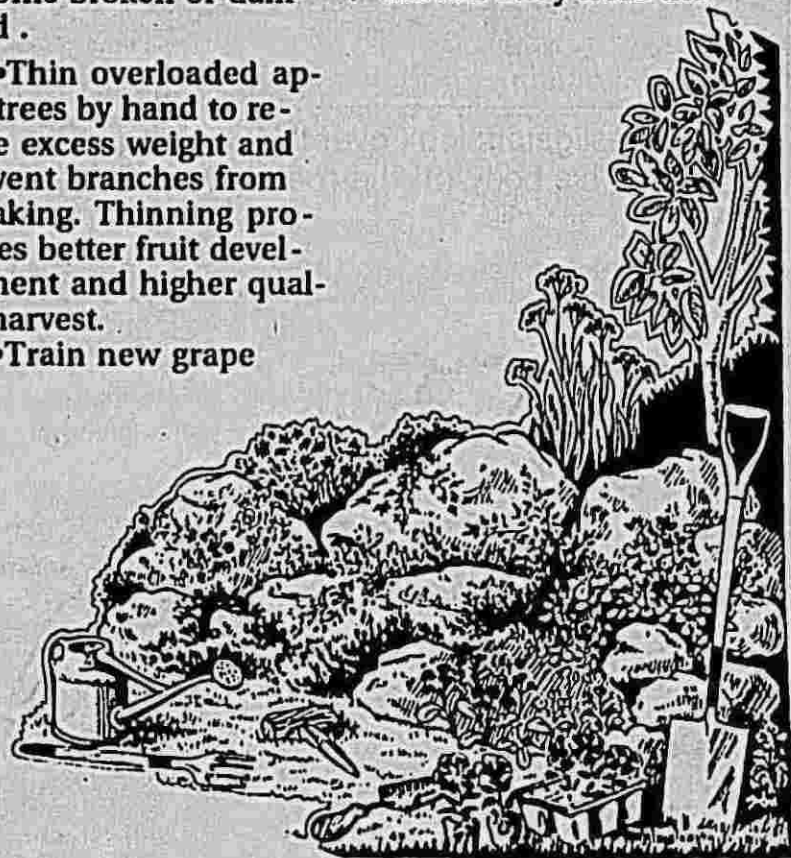

- Stake tall or weak-stemmed perennials as needed before they become broken or damaged.

- Thin overloaded apple trees by hand to relieve excess weight and prevent branches from breaking. Thinning produces better fruit development and higher quality harvest.

- Train new grape hot summer days.

- Plants near south or west windows should be moved away from the plants and tie to stakes.

- Prune suckers and watersprouts as they appear in fruit trees.

- For indoor gardening, the Botanic Garden recommends:

- Repot cyclamen tubers before setting them out for the summer. Cyclamen need to be repotted every two to three years.

- House plants can be put outside for the summer. Expose them to their new conditions gradually to avoid injury from sun and drying wind.

- Clean up indoor plants and pinch tips to direct growth.

- White wash or hang shading cloth in greenhouse in preparation for window or shielded with draperies from the afternoon sun.

The Plant Information Service is open from 10 a.m. to 3 p.m., daily, in the Fruit and Vegetable Garden.

The Chicago Botanic Garden is located on Lake-Cook Road in Glencoe, one-half mile east to the Edens Expressway. The Botanic Garden is open every day 8 a.m. until sunset.

Admission is free; parking is $4 per car. The 300-acre facility is owned by the Forest Preserve District of Cook County and managed by the Chicago Horticultural Society. For additional information, call (708) 835-5440.

Unidentified driver hits, kills Round Lake cyclist

by THOMAS STEVENS
Lakeland Newspapers

An unidentified motorist struck and killed a Round Lake man, who was riding a bicycle home on Cedar Lake Road, on June 13.

The body, later identified as Fidel Segura, 21 of 521 Morningside, Round Lake Beach, was found by Lake County Highway workers in the early afternoon on June 15 during routine road repairs on Cedar Lake Road, north of Monerville Road.

"The best we can tell, the body had been here about 36 to 48 hours," said Lake Villa Patrolman Roger Schroeder at the scene of the accident. "This is going to take some investigative work."

According to Lake Villa Police Chief John Debevic, the accident probably took place about 11:15 p.m. on June 6 when Segura was struck from behind while returning home after purchasing a pizza in Lake Villa.

"As far as we can tell, he was heading home from the restaurant when the accident occurred," said Debevic.

Although Segura was not wearing reflective clothing, Debevic said the bicycle had a number of reflective objects on it at the time of the accident.

Pieces of bicycle and the unidentified vehicle were scattered over a several hundred foot area, leading investigators to believe a high speed impact occurred.

'We have been able to recover the majority of the bike. We are definitely investigating this.'

—Chief John Debevic

"We have been able to recover the majority of the bike and several pieces of glass and molding from the vehicle," said Debevic.

Lake County Chief Deputy Coroner Jim Wipper said the impact of the accident was similar to one that could be expected by a vehicle traveling at moderate rate of speed.

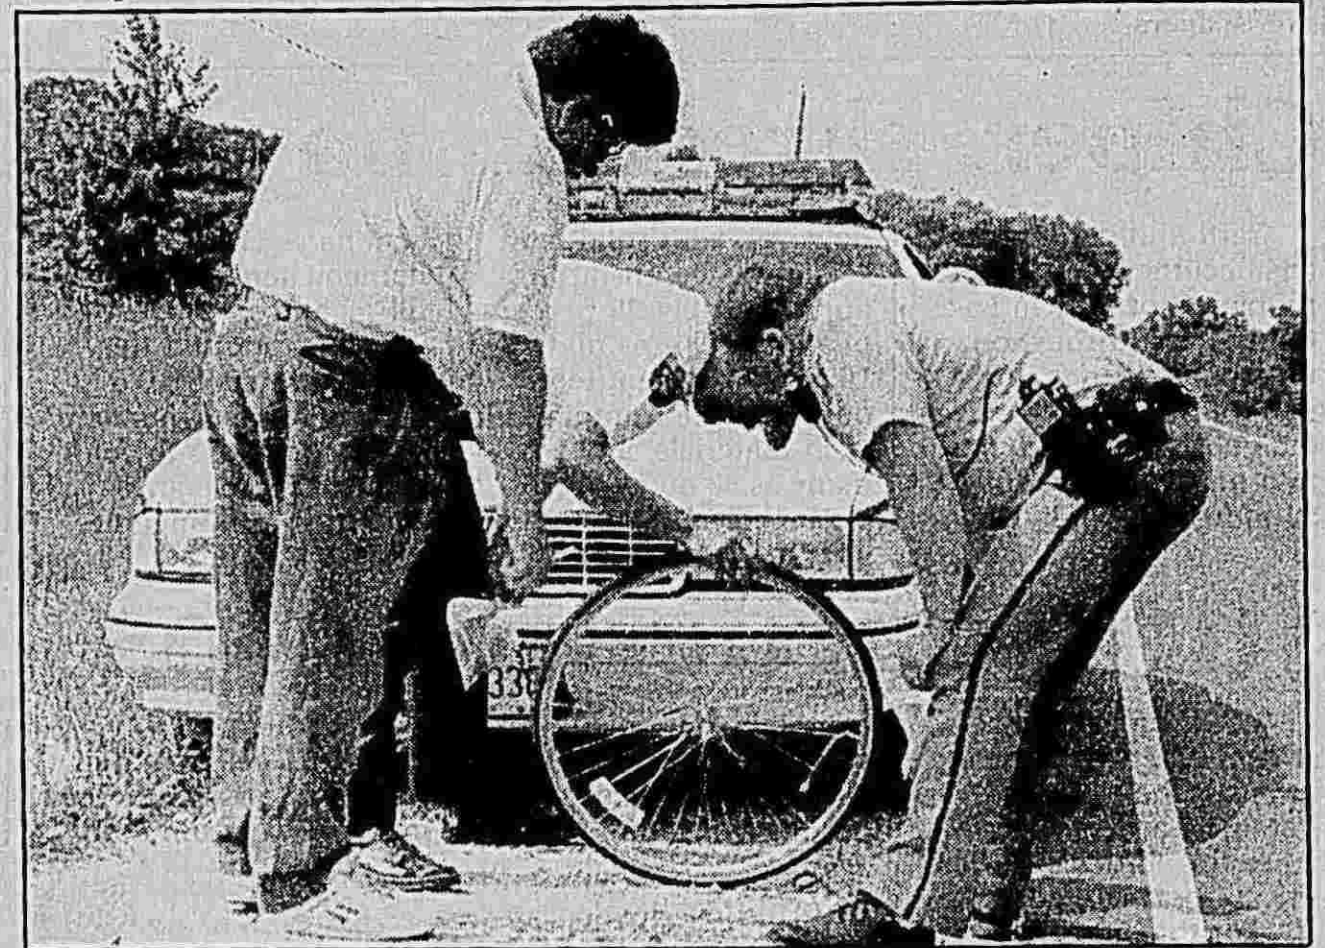

"Although it is hard to tell how fast the vehicle was going, there was a lot of force in this impact," said Wipper.

Lake Villa Police have no suspects in custody but are investigating several leads and a dispatch call that could be a link to the accident.

"We are definitely investigating this," said Debevic.

Lake County Coroners officials pronounced Segura dead at the scene at 2:10 p.m. on June 15 of multiple traumatic injuries, after the workers found him some 15 feet off the roadway, said Wipper.

Neighbor held in sex assault of six year-old boy

by THOMAS STEVENS
Lakeland Newspapers

A Lake Villa man has been charged by the Lake County Sheriff's Police for beating and sexually assaulting a six year-old boy on June 10.

According to Sheriff's Detective Kevin Parker, the suspect, Robert Kendall, 22, of 37741 N. Darby, has been charged with armed violence, two counts of aggravated kidnapping and aggravated sexual assault in the attack of the Lake Villa child that morning.

Police believe Kendall knew the victim prior to the attack because the child and he lived in the same neighborhood.

Kendall allegedly told police that he had consumed a 12-pack of beer in about 30 minutes before he attacked the youth, who was riding his bike in the neighborhood.

Parker said, the subject asked the child if he wanted to hunt for frogs in a wooded area near their homes. Police believe Kendall became irate with the boy, because he was not walking fast enough, and started beating him.

Kendall slapped, punched and pushed the boy around, Parker said. When the boy began to cry and stated he wanted to go home, Kendall allegedly grabbed the boy and pulled him further into the woods.

After several more minutes of beating and dropping the boy on the ground, Kendall pulled out a knife and told the boy to take off his pants. It was here, police say, that Kendall allegedly fondled the boy's genitals and forced the boy to touch his.

Several minutes later, when both heard the boy's mother call for him, police said Kendall threatened to kill the boy if he told anyone about what happened in the woods.

The boy's mother called the Sheriff's Police, after becoming worried about her son, and two squad cars were dispatched to the scene. Police were ready to search the wooded area when the boy got away from Kendall and ran to a neighbor's home.

Police captured Kendall when he came out of the woods several minutes later after the boy had been returned to his mother.

The boy received treatment at Condell Medical Center in Libertyville for bruises to his face and a small cut to his neck and was released, Parker said.

A preliminary hearing for Kendall has been scheduled for June 29 in Waukegan.

Motorist faces homicide charges after DUI accident

by THOMAS STEVENS
Lakeland Newspapers

A Lake Villa man, who has been charged with reckless homicide and possession of cocaine in separate driving incidents, was indicted by a grand jury in a May 7 death of a Glenview man.

According to Assistant State's Attorney Jeff Pavletic, Scott Alsip, 35, of 36585 Marilyn Lane,

Lake Villa, was indicted by a grand jury in the death of Terry Turban, 37, who was killed when Alsip's car allegedly struck his motorcycle from behind at about 8:30 p.m. on May 7.

Police said Turban was traveling southbound on Route 83 between Rollins and Monaville Roads in Round Lake when Alsip's car allegedly struck him.

Turban died at the scene of the accident, Pavletic said, after suffering three broken vertebrae and a severed brain stem.

Witnesses told police that Alsip's car never slowed down and simply went straight at the victim and the motorcycle, said Pavletic.

Blood alcohol testing after the accident showed Alsip's blood alcohol content at .17 percent. A blood alcohol content of .1 percent is the legal definition of driving while intoxicated.

In addition to these charges, Alsip still faces DUI and drug charges stemming from a Feb. 16 arrest in Mundelein. Police, in that case, found during booking procedures a leather pouch on Alsip that allegedly contained two razor blades, a small mirror and a vial of cocaine.

An arrest warrant based on the charges filed against Alsip has been issued and calls for bail of $250,000, said Pavletic.

THE COMEDY CONNECTION

Patty Hink Hernes has been bringing professional comedians to Lake County venues for four years. At left, comedian/actor Rickey Connor at the Lakes Bowl. Connor has a bit part in "Home Alone II."

Makin' Lake County laugh

She's your friendly neighborhood Java mama turned comedy agent. Housemom by day, entertainment promoter by night. She can be found sitting in the back of the club, her husky laugh echoing on cue. She's having a riot — as if she were just another member of the audience seeing the show for the first time. But this is about the 45th show Patty Hink Hernes' Comedy Connection has produced at local venues.

Classmates at St. Bede in Ingleside or Grant High School in Fox Lake may remember Patty Hink as a quiet girl. But anyone meeting her today would find it hard to believe she was ever shy. She came out of her shell after high school. "I realized you didn't have to be skinny and perfect to have a personality," she said.

Her success as a comedy promoter can be attributed in part to her late father, Leonard Hink, Jr. of TV Hink in Fox Lake. "My father always taught me if you can do anything, you can sell yourself," said Patty. So she started selling coffee.

Patty was working at Superior Cup in Chicago pushing java and after work, instead of going home, she'd head over to The Improvisation to catch some comedy. She started hanging out with the comedians and soon found herself working with another agent, who was producing a show at Poor Richards in Gurnee.

Her big break came when she met comedian-promoter Orlando Reyes. "I told him what I was interested in doing, and he sent me 110 to 115 of his best acts. He had them calling me. He wanted me to become an agent so bad because he was tired of agents not paying them. He thought I'd be sincere.

"I don't think that the agents respect the comedians... most comedians aren't real responsible people. That's why they're comedians. But I do have respect for them."

Patty's gained her respect for the comics the hard way — she tried it.

"I tried it in a contest in Florida. I won the first contest. When I went to another place, I bombed. I decided never to do it again.

"That's the key to the relationship. I respect

by CLAUDIA M. LENART them after feeling the rejection and the positive reaction. I wear my emotions on my sleeve. Comedians have to be able to control that."

Patty has been bringing comedians to Lake County for about four years now. She says her husband was the one who gave her the opportunity to quit her coffee selling job to pursue this dream. Patty met Michael Hernes while she was pushing comedy at Poor Richards.

"He always loved the way I got into comedy."

Last year Patty cleared $14,000 through the Comedy Connection. That may not sound like a fortune, but it's pretty good considering she only works one day a week. "I don't consider going to bars promoting my shows real hard work," she says. "My full-time job is as a mom. I make 70,000 hugs a year." The beneficiary of those hugs is Michael Robert, 16-months-old.

The Comedy Connection produced regular shows at Frigates for close to three years. Other local venues include Bauer's on the Bay in Loon Lake and Antioch Golf Club in Antioch. The Comedy Connection also produces shows for private parties.

Over the last few years Patty has provided Lake Countians a rare opportunity to see professional comedians close to home. One thing she's noticed is that Lake County residents are a little more leery when coming to a comedy show. The shows are so inexpensive, about $5, that the audience doesn't usually expect the level of professionalism they get. "I get about 75 percent of my crowd very pleased."

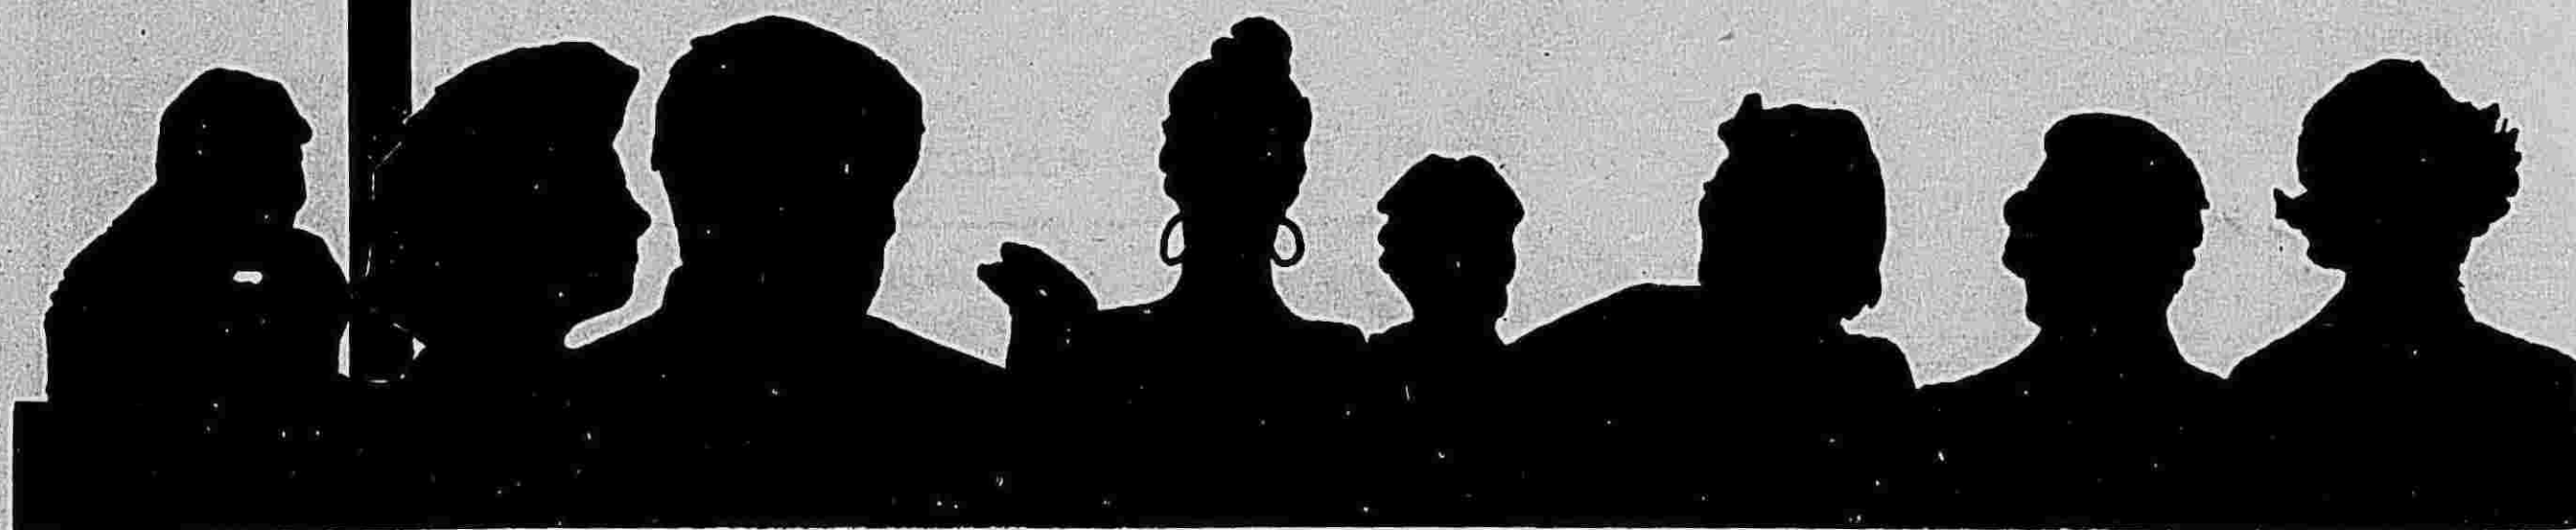

Besides a second family income, what does Patty get out of it?

"Making people laugh has got to be the best job in the whole world. I can't imagine anything better than sitting in a roomful of people and knowing I'm responsible for making them laugh."

According to her calculations, the future prospects for her career look good. "Comedy is universal. Everybody enjoys comedy. Not everybody enjoys watching someone strum the banjo or a blues band." She does think comedy's been overdone on television with all the cable shows. "When people see it on TV, they think they're all bad. You can't get the true effect watching a comic on TV. You have to feel the laughter."

Dreams for her future include producing a show at a large venue such as the Rosemont, possibly owning a comedy club, or managing a superstar comedian. "I want to find that one comedian that will totally blow my mind, reach out, grab him and take him as far as he can go."

For now, she'll continue to bring shows to Lake County and surrounding areas. "I want to make Lake County happy. I want to make Lake County laugh."

A basketful of love

Orphans of the Storm has an outstanding selection of irresistible, cuddly and playful kittens. Long hairs, and short hairs are available in many colors.

A kitten is a "Purr-fect" companion for a lonely "only" cat, or kitten. If you don't have a cat at home, consider adopting an adult cat with a kitten, or two kittens. Most cats adore the companionship of a lovable pal. Their playful antics will endlessly delight you, and they'll have each other when you are not home or busy.

Cash $40 donation includes free spray/neuter, first shot, two weeks medical care, FELV test and more.

For further information on a kitten or any other pet, contact Orphans of the Storm, 2200 Riverwoods Rd., Deerfield, (708) 945-0235. Hours are from 11 a.m. to 5 p.m. daily.

Maggie, the shepherd mix featured in the June 4 issue was adopted and we got many calls on her.

Can't af-Ford to miss 'Games'

On the outside, Harrison Ford is a little better looking than average, a little sexier than average, but a much better actor than the average thespian.

He has the quiet calmness of a Jimmy Stewart or a Henry Fonda, but is almost as dynamic as John Wayne.

This is the combination that is the leading factor in making the Tom Clancy adventure novel one of the best, if not the best of the summer film releases.

We have an ex-CIA professor and his family tossed into the midst of a dangerous terrorist ring when Ford saves the lives of low-end British Royalty under attack by Irish terrorists.

In the process, he kills the "baby" brother of IRA spinoff terrorist, Sean Bean.

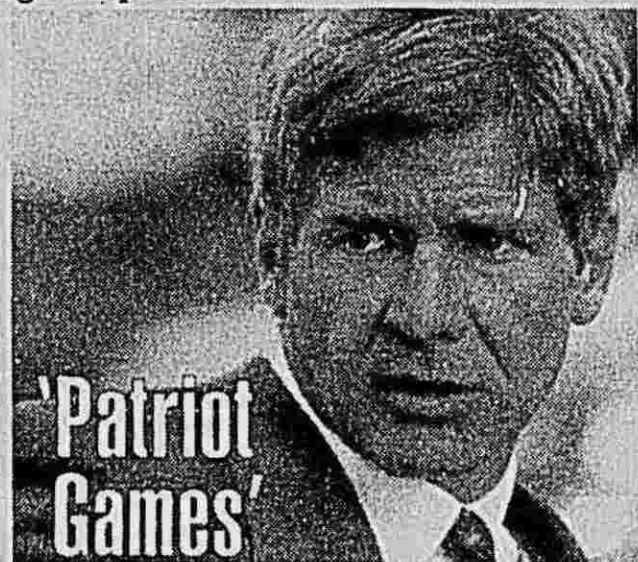

It is Bean's insatiable need for revenge that puts Ford's wife and daughter smack into the center of the renewed terrorist attempt against the cousin of the Queen of England.

Although Ford more closely resembles the Annapolis professor he plays than a daring CIA agent, he can chase, shoot, punch and be as aerobic as the best of the Bruce Willis's, Danny Glovers and Mel Gibsons.

The fact that Ford took over the Jack Ryan role when Alec Baldwin, who played that part in "Red October," wanted too much money, is a plus for the film.

Ann Archer plays a beautiful and strong adventurer's wife. Although Director Phillip Noyce gets a bit carried away with the smash and dash ending, a Navy professor leading the killer away from his family in a racing boat during a typhoon, sort of fits.

We give "Games" five out of five stars and think it deserves to be the big boxoffice smash of the summer season although such goodies as "Batman Returns" loom in the theater wings." —by GLORIA DAVIS

Festival delivers quality entertainment

Critic's Choice

If an early sampling of the bill of fare of the fourth International Theater Festival of Chicago is a bellwether, high-quality, solid entertainment are on the docket to fill out the final days of the schedule.

In all, the festival will comprise 13 productions by 10 theater companies and include five U.S. premieres.

Here's what remains:

"Waiting for Godot," Gate Theater Company (Irish), performing at DePaul University's Blackstone Theater June 18 to 21. Daisan Erotica (Japan) is doing "A Man Called Macbeth," also through Sunday. And Akademia Ruchu (Poland's Academy of Movement), at the University of Illinois at Chicago Theater, drawing from a repertoire of "English Lesson," "Carthage" and "Everyday Life After the Great Revolution, Part Two."

Earlier in the month, the festival featured a stunning bit of performance art, "Derives" (Driftings) by the French Compagnie Philippe Genty.

The Steppenwolf stage was filled with all manner of puppets—from glove puppets, rod puppets, marionettes and shadow puppets—all teamed up to provide an entrancing, at times erotically disturbing, dream-like experience. Even though the program proceeded wordlessly while drawing on classical traditions, it communicated a fresh, contemporary vision, one subject to wide latitudes of interpretation.

Another play, Gabriel Marquez' "No One Writes to the Colonel," also left the door wide open to broad interpretation. Translated simultaneously from Spanish to English, this 90-minute Venezuelan production artfully looks at the absurdities of life. Its chief character, barely keeping a step ahead of starvation after waiting 19 years for a military pension that never arrives, utters this toothy line to explain his tenacity, "You can't eat a dream, but it does nourish you." —by TOM WITOM

BARTER

You've Read About It In Magazines & Newspapers, You've Seen It On TV . . . Here is a simple explanation of How You Can Benefit. . .

The trade network is for businesses of All Sizes, that simply want more new business coming in! It's really very simple . . . we send other business owners to you, to buy your product or service. They'll pay you in trade dollars, which are credited to your account at the Trade Exchange.

In turn, you'll be able to then spend those trade dollars where you wish within our trade network. (You do not have to trade them back to the people who buy from you.) Trade dollars can be spent for things you desire, such as: printing, advertising, travel, services, merchandise, and more. You decide.

In 1992, Midwest Trade will start its 10th year, and of the 1100+ companies who participate, over 400 are here in Lake County. Some will surprise you! We have doctors, dentists, roofers, attorneys, accountants, manufacturers, restaurants, hotels & resorts, and so much more.

New Business is great, but you'll also save money. When you pay with your own product or service, instead of cash, you save the equivalent of your profit margin.

The economy has been rough, but people are fighting back! And Barter is a tremendous way to do it. If you're an established business, and would like more business, call us today. We'll be delighted to send you detailed information, and references.

Ham operators field day

The Lake County Radio Amateur Civil Emergency Service will participate in a nationally sponsored exercise simulating disaster conditions on Saturday and Sunday, June 27 and 28 at 1303 N. Milwaukee Ave., Libertyville. Starting at 1 p.m. both days, ham operators will be able to answer questions about their equipment, procedures and the public service role that amateur radio plays in Lake County. For further information call (708)381-2386 or (708)369-7566.

Hospice workshop

The Hospice of Northeastern Illinois is sponsoring two six-week support groups entitled "From Grief to Hope." Those persons who have experienced the loss of a loved one are invited to attend. Both workshops will meet on Thursdays, July 2 to Aug. 6. In the Barrington area, the time is 7 to 9 p.m. In the Woodstock area, the workshop will meet from 9:30 to 11:30 a.m. Call June Benton or Glenna Waxler at (708)381-5599 for further details.

Single With Children

Single with children is not always easy. Share experiences with those who can not only understand, but can even help one get through difficult times. Single With Children (SWC) is a support group for custodial single parents in the Lake County area, and meets Thursdays at 7 p.m. For location and further information call (708)395-3336.

Overbooked Flight--What Does It Mean?

by JIM WARNKEN, PRESIDENT
NORTH STAR TRAVEL, INC.

You've got your ticket, you've checked your luggage at the gate and are ready to fly. Suddenly there is an announcement. "I'm sorry, ladies and gentlemen: Your flight has been overbooked."

What do they mean, "overbooked?" Can an airline sell more tickets for a flight than there are seats on the plane? You bet they can. Look at the fine print on the envelope your ticket came in. It reads, "Airline flights may be overbooked and there is a chance a seat will not be available on a flight for which a person has a confirmed reservation."

Why would an airline overbook? The reason is quite simple. Many people make reservations, don't travel, and don't cancel. This runs on the average of 20 to 30 percent. These are called "no shows."

To compensate, most airlines overbook by about 10 to 15 percent. The problems come about when everyone shows up! What happens in that case? First, anyone traveling on a free ticket will be "bumped" from the flight. This includes airline employees traveling on free passes and travel agents who may have earned a free ticket. (I'm writing this article from the Miami airport, having been bumped from a flight home!) Frequent flyers traveling on earned tickets may also be bumped.

If there are still not enough seats, the airline will ask for volunteers. Here is your chance to earn free travel, money and maybe even fly first class for free!

First find out on which flight the airline can accommodate you if you do give up your seat on this one. If you have got the time, it could well be worth your while.

You will be offered some sort of compensation. Most often, it is a free ticket to use on your next vacation. You may even receive cash in addition to your free ticket. It is quite common to be given a first class seat on the next flight out. If the next flight is not until tomorrow, you will be given a hotel room and free meals. If your overbooked flight leaves you in Hawaii, that may not be so bad!

So, the next time you are looking for an excuse to spend a little more time in that vacation paradise, hope for an overbooked flight.

Horoscope

ARIES (March 21-April 19) You take a leadership role all week long, until you fall into exhaustion. The boss just loves what you're doing. A parent is going "Yeah," and you get your laurels by the weekend. Just wish upon a star. Friendship and romance are also highlighted this mad and wonderful week.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20) Your creativity and willingness to walk on the wild side make this a banner week. You finally find the solution to the madness and insanity at work. You resolve a domestic problem and make a friend very happy. No wonder this weekend is about celebrating and more celebrating.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20) Refuse to be intimidated and pushed by a partnership. Mellow out and gather up some daydream material. Consider a trip or a very unique opportunity that could have an impact on your work. Applause surrounds you by the weekend. Certainly you are doing something right.

CANCER (June 21-July 22) The cards are stacked in a partner's favor. Be smart and don't create flak where none is needed, because you'll end up the loser. One-to-one talks about feelings and all the "goosey" things in life prevail all week long. Accept an offer of a runaway weekend to relax and enjoy.

LEO (July 23-August 22) Work while you can, because play you will this week. Distraction hits an all time high, and boy do you love it! Selection and timing are critical, as you make time to be with that special person this weekend. Ask for what you want, and be prepared to maybe just get it.

VIRGO (August 23-September 22) Creativity and romance are the big headlines this week — how and where you play them out is up to you. Certainly your work could benefit. The trick to making this magic work is to concentrate on one thing at a time. The weekend is exclusively for pleasure (yours).

LIBRA (September 23-October 22)

You need to handle a critical domestic matter sooner, rather than later. You can no longer hedge or push or demand. However, you CAN stop playing the game and see what comes down. Romance punctuates this week and weekend, but do make time to get some work done, too.

SCORPIO (October 23-November 21) Realize what is really being asked of you, and "get real" about this one. You may need to do some heavy-duty soul-searching to come up with the answers. Whatever you decide, it seems to work, as you sensually celebrate the weekend with a loved one. No complaints allowed.

SAGITTARIUS (November 22-December 21) Expenses may be truly out of whack, and this may not be your own doing. Maintain a perspective when discussing alternatives — the "how comes" and the "whats." At any cost, stay on top of your work. You may need some time to "veg out" this weekend. Keep plans low keyed.

CAPRICORN (December 22-January 19) You're in the spotlight this full moon week, and don't kid yourself — someone is watching closely. Caution with assets, both material and emotional, pays off big time. Spend the weekend being the friend you are. Catch up on neighborhood gossip and a friend's recent adventures.

AQUARIUS (January 20-February 18) Lie back and watch what must "go down." Maintain perspective and rethink your plan of attack. You gain major respect and attention for your decisions and leadership later in the week. Spend the weekend trying not to spend. Rather, get into the simple pleasures of life.

PISCES (February 19-March 20) Surprises pop up this week, and, in an effort to deal with all the changes, you may need to withdraw for a while. Don't feel bad about decisions — just know what you must do, and what you are capable of. The weekend, by the way, more than makes up for the rough uphill battle.

Three little steps to a happier pool.

Make your pool more fun, less work and healthier to swim in with the BioGuard® 3-Step Program. It's simple as 1-2-3.

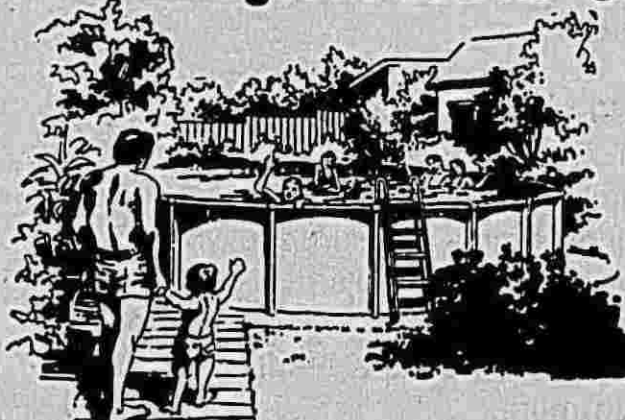

1. Sanitize with BioGuard® stabilized chlorine — the longer-lasting bacteria fighter.
2. Shock with Burn Out® or Burn Out 35® to remove wastes and clear the water.
3. Prevent Algae with BioGuard Back-Up® algae inhibitor. It stops algae before it starts.

That's all there is to it! You'll spend less, work less and everyone will be happier — with BioGuard. Relax. Bring your pool to BioGuard.

"Overlooking Libertyville at night from the top of the 1290 Building"

Chris' Steak & Seafood a new reason to eat out

There's a brand-new restaurant in Libertyville that will delight your taste buds, but not wreck your wallet.

Chris' Steak and Seafood House has opened on the top floor of the 1290 S.
Milwaukee building, and its floor-to-ceiling windows offer a spectacular view of Libertyville at night as you dine.

The decor is first-class, yet casual and informal with its burgundy, grey and white color scheme. The white wicker chairs with burgundy upholstery are large and comfortable. Fresh flowers are put on each table daily just prior to opening. A large white marble fireplace offers a cozy atmosphere for cold wintry nights and a 3-D-effect sandblasted arched-glass panel separates diners from the bar.

Enjoy a steak, and Chris' offers you the uncompromising quality of U.S.D.A. premium-choice certified beef specially selected and aged. The steaks are impeccably hand trimmed to assure you of the juiciest, most tender and flavorful steaks possible. Choose from a juicy, nine-ounce, center-cut tenderloin gourmet filet mignon all the way to a Texas-size eight-teen-ounce T-bone. And, there are seven more steaks or chops to choose from.

All foods may be ordered either charcoal grilled or gas broiled. A real delight is the Filet Mignon Brochette with onions, peppers, mushroom caps and fresh vegetables skewered and grilled.

Seafood lovers have not been ignored with seven choices from fresh brook trout to the garlic lover's delight—Shrimp de Jonghe, a classic dish baked in garlic butter, herbs and wine.

There are five veal and chicken choices on Chris' menu, including Chicken of the Angels, a boneless breast of chicken sauteed in butter, mushrooms, lemon and hearts of artichoke. And on the appetizer side of the menu, seven items from french onion soup to fried calamari.

Fresh home baked bread served sliced and warm in a basket accompanies every dinner and your choice of steak fries or the classic baked potato with all the trimmings.

Chris' offers a choice of three salads:
Caesar with homemade croutons, a cole slaw that is definitely different or the special house salad of limestone lettuce, sliced mushrooms, a special sweet-tart dressing, apples and walnuts. And to round off your dinner, if you have room—there's a surprise dessert every day.

And if you have a special get together with friends or family, Chris' has "The Cove", a special semi-private corner of the restaurant that can be reserved by calling.

Chris' is open Monday through Thursday from 5 p.m. to 11 p.m. and Fridays and Saturdays from 5 p.m. to midnight. Call (708) 362-6016.

This is how we died last year

by JOSEPH SOULAK
Lakeland Newspapers

For people committing suicide in Lake County, September is the most popular month. Last year nine did themselves in during that month. Seven decided to end it all in April, May, June and October.

Killings or homicides took place most often in July last year. There were four that month. October was next with three. A hand gun was used in six of the 20 killings last year in.

Drugs and alcohol were a major factor in a large number of Lake County deaths last year, whether by the person's own hand, in a motor vehicle or by drowning.

Overdosing was the cause of 23 deaths in the county last year, a 109 percent increase from the year before. Ten involved tranquilizers or sedatives. Fifteen of the victims were between the ages of 31 and 59.

These are some of grim statistics in the 1991 annual report from Coroner Barbara Richardson. It doesn't paint a pretty picture.

Deaths by suicide last year (62) were up 63 percent from the year before. The 20 homicides in 1991 was 11 percent more than the year before.

Two categories actually showed declines. The 58 motor vehicle accidents was a drop of 31 percent from the year before. And the nine drownings was 10 percent fewer than in 1990.

Suicide tied to economy

The soaring 63 percent increase in the suicide rate to 62 last year was attributed by Richardson to the struggling economy. "Some were affluent people," she said of the deaths, making six-figure incomes. Maybe they lost their job or were about to. Sometimes it is the trauma of being laid off from a job held for 15, 20 or 25 years. Or it could be the rejection in a new job search. Others involved a relationship that went sour, alcohol or drugs.

Hand guns were involved in 15 of the suicides last year. Eleven persons did it by hanging or carbon monoxide, eight by drug overdose, six by throwing themselves in front of a train and four by shot gun. Alcohol or drugs were involved in 34 of the deaths.

Of the victims, 46 were males, 16 females; 17 of the men left notes, seven of the women. Thirty-one were married, 20 single and eight divorced. Sixteen were between the ages of 21-30 and 13 age 41-50. Another nine were in the 51-60 age group and nine more over age 61. With the elderly, the cause is often their age and health.

Most homicides in July

Last year's 20 killings in Lake County was 11 percent more than the 18 in 1990.

Hand guns were responsible for six of the deaths, three by being struck and two each by stabbing, shotgun and strangulation. July was the big month with four followed by May and October with three each. Alcohol or drugs were found in 10 of the victims.

Of those killed, 11 were men, nine women; 11 of them white, eight blacks and one Hispanic. Most—eight—were between the age of 31-40 with five in the under 20 age range. Eight were married and eight single.

23 overdose cases

Last year saw an astounding 23 cases of death by overdose—109 percent more than the 11 of the year before. Involved were both drugs and alcohol.

Dramatically, 15 of the victims or 65 percent were between the ages of 31 and 59; 10 were male, 13 female and eight were married, nine single and five divorced.

Twelve of the deaths were ruled accidental, 10 involved tranquilizers or sedatives, eight ended in suicide, nine were by a combination of drugs and alcohol, four involved narcotics and three were ethanol overdoses.

Auto accidents down 31 %

Last year 58 persons lost their life in auto accidents in Lake County, 31 percent fewer than the year before. Of this number, 35 were drivers, 16 passengers, four pedestrians and three cyclists.

Some 42 were men, 16 female; 23 single, 21 married and 11 divorced.

Seventeen were between the ages of 31 and 40, 12 age 21-30 and 12 more under the age of 20, five of them with drugs or alcohol. Of the vehicle deaths last year, 31 of the drivers were chemically impaired.

Big month for accidents last year was August with 10 followed by October with nine and six each in June and July. There were no deaths in March 1991.

"We take pride in the statistics found in this part of our report," the coroner said. She credited better law enforcement and "bombardment of the public with don't drink and drive messages." She also credited the use of seat belts and air bags.

Nine lost in drowning

Nine people lost their life by drowning in the county last year, one less than the year before. All nine were men.

Lake Michigan claimed five victims, Grass Lake two and there was one each at Loch Lomond in Mundelein and at Bluff Lake.

Three of the deaths occurred in August, two each in July and November and one each in March and June.

Five of the victims were swimming, three were involved in a boating mishap and one was simply found in the lake. Alcohol or drugs were found in four of the persons.

Three were between the age of 21-30, and two under age 20.

Fire claims six

Six persons died by fire last year in the county, three more than the year before. Three were over age 61, all others under age 40; four were women and two men.

There was one death each by fire in January, March, August, October, November and December. Drugs and alcohol were found in only one of the bodies.

May big for accidents

In addition to death by vehicle, drowning or fire, 49 others last year were by accident; 19 by falling, three choked on food, three more by bicycle, two were struck by a train, two more by exposure, and one each by lightning, gunshot wound, crushing injury, sports injury, heat stroke and medical mishap.

Of the victims, 36 were men, 13 women. Drugs and alcohol were found in 15 of the persons, two of them under age 21. Seventeen were over age 61 and most others age 31-50.

May was a big month for such accidents with seven followed by six each in April, July and October, five in November and four in March.

Of the 348 deaths investigated by the coroner's office last year, 91 involved alcohol, 18 carbon monoxide, nine cocaine and the remainder various types of other drugs or substances ranging from heroin and morphine to benzodiazepines, barbiturates and codeine.

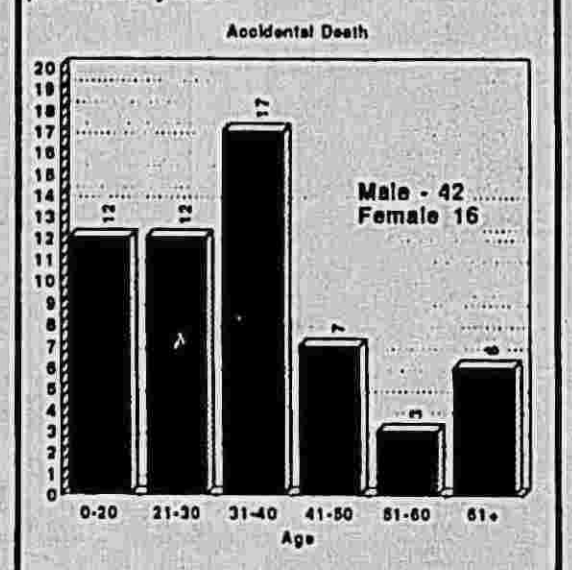

Suicides

With 62 suicidal deaths recorded for 1991, the suicide rate has increased 63% over the previous year.

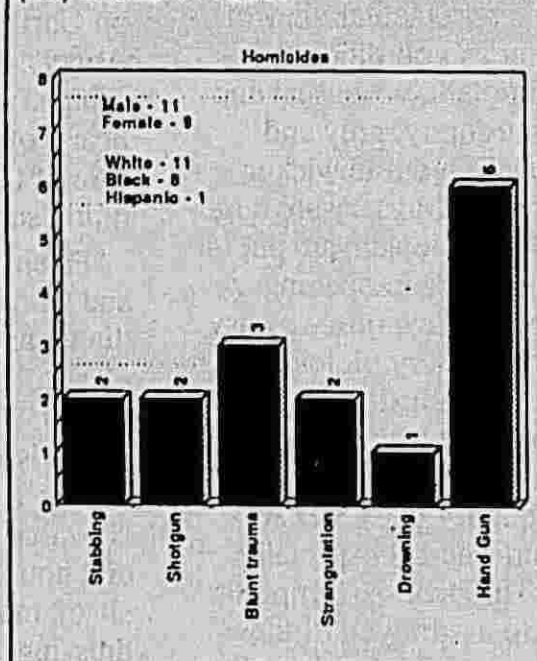

Vehicular

Over 9% of all Coroner's Cases in 1991 involved a motor vehicle, or a total of 58 accidental fatalities in Lake County—a 31% decrease from the previous year.

Homicides

Death by homicide increased by 11% over the previous year. Twenty (20) cases in 1991.

Overdose

Twenty three (23) coroner's cases in 1991 were the direct result of a drug overdose: This is an increase of 109% from the 11 cases in 1990.

12 deaths were ruled accidental
3 deaths were attributed to suicide
3 deaths were ruled undetermined
9 cases involved a combination of drugs and/or drugs and alcohol
4 deaths involved narcotics or narcotic-like drugs
10 deaths involved tranquilizers or sedatives
3 deaths were alcohol overdoses
1 death involved methanol

Obituaries

Richard "Dick" L. Waters

73 years old of Antioch, IL passed away Saturday, June 13, 1992 at Victory Memorial Hospital, Waukegan, IL. He was born September 13, 1918 in Antioch and was a life long resident. He was a member of the Northern Illinois Conservation Club in which he was the founder in 1960. He also taught and worked with the Boy Scouts in conservation, was the founder of the Chain of Lakes Ice Fishing Derby in 1960, and served in the U.S. Navy. He was the owner and operator of Dick's Tree Service in Antioch for 45 years, retiring in December of 1989. On June 29, 1940 he married Ann Gasa in Berwyn, IL.

Survivors include his wife, Ann; two brothers, Robert (Arden) of Waukegan, and James of Tennessee; one sister, Joyce of Florida; and his brother-in-law, John (Dorothy) Gasa of Naples, Florida. He was preceded in death by one brother, Charles.

Funeral services were held at 1:30 pm Thursday, June 18, 1992 at Strang Funeral Home, 1055 Main Street (Rte 83), Antioch, IL with Rev. Kurt Gamlin of the United Methodist Church of Antioch officiating. Interment was in Hillside Cemetery, Antioch, IL. Friends called at the funeral home Tuesday and Wednesday. Those desiring may make contributions to the Antioch Rescue Squad or the Antioch Fire Department in his memory.

Grief notes

The natural order of life is that our children will outlive us. Death changes that order and dashes our plans and hopes for the future. The painful feelings that parents experience makes it difficult for them to support one another during the crisis of grieving. As feelings become stronger and support dwindles the relationship between the partners can become strained. Communication between partners is most important and needs special attention so that their difficulties with grief do not spill over and create misunderstandings in other parts of marriage. Many grieving parents report that they feel abandoned by friends at a time when they need them to listen and help.

Why is the death of a child so difficult for parents?

How To Survive The Job Search

By Nancy Sakol

Q: Being on a tight budget as I am, I have a limited business wardrobe. I was forced to wear the same suit to a first and second interview with the same company. Was that wrong? B.J.

A: No. In fact, you were probably the only one who knew that. I will tell you, however, that even on a tight budget, ties and accessories can change the entire look of a suit or outfit. Because a business wardrobe can be costly, time should be taken when purchasing items. Study your wardrobe as it is now. Try to mix and match several pieces. You may be amazed at how different an outfit may look by changing a shirt or blouse and adding a different tie or scarf.

Q: What is the appropriate way to end an interview? K.H.

A: If in fact you are interested in the position you are interviewing for and the interview appears to be drawing to a close, let the interviewer know you are interested with a simple, "Thank you for taking the time to meet with me today. I hope to be hearing from you soon." This does work well. Don't forget to end with a firm hand shake.

Q: Why is it so hard to find a job? I dropped out of high school in my Sophomore year. Could this be the reason? E.M.

A: At this time, you do not have a complete education. Local high schools as well as community colleges and county offices offer what is called the G.E.D. Program or General Educational Development. This is a quick and affordable means with which you can obtain your certificate of completion. These classes are usually set up in the evenings and or on weekends for convenience. Contact your local high school for further information. You'll be glad you did.

Note: Nancy Sakol is a licensed personnel professional and President of Superior Personnel in Gurnee. Letters can be sent to Nancy c/o Lakeland Newspapers, P.O. Box 268, Grayslake, IL 60030

Wounded Deer Club offers boxing in 'burbs

by GREG MILLER
Lakeland Newspapers

Put up your dukes.
That's Jim Mellen's challenge to area young people.

Mellen — an experienced boxer, kick-boxer, trainer and instructor — is the founder of Wounded Deer Boxing Club.

Boxing, Mellen said, "is great conditioning for the body, mine and soul."

Mellen currently has about 40 students involved in the club or taking private lessons. The club meets Tuesday and Thursday evenings and Sunday afternoons at Kim's Tae Kwon Do, 1175 West Park Ave. in Libertyville (at the intersection of Rte. 176 and Butterfield Road).

Mellen, a Libertyville native, said he wants people to know the fine art of pugilism is alive and well in the suburbs.

"They can go across the street in the city and box. They have so many park districts where they can box for free. The most popular thing out here is Tae Kwon do and other martial arts. I think it's a good idea to have boxing out here too."

Wounded Deer Boxing Club is sanctioned by the Illinois Amateur Boxing Association (IABA). Mellen prefers to work with junior high and high school students, but there are really no age boundaries.

Some of the current club members include Johnsburg freshman Steve Vogt, Mundelein sophomore Jimmy Charneske, Carmel freshman Paul Van Dyne, Northern Illinois juniors Mike Heins and Mel Heckman, University of Wisconsin sophomore Brian Lewin and Mark Key, who will attend the Spartan School of Aeronautics in Tulsa, Okla. this fall.

Stevenson senior Nina Lewin, Brian's sister, is the only girl in the club right now, but Mellen said boxing can be as beneficial to women as it is to men.

"It gives them (women) a sense of confidence. It develops their timing and stamina. It gives them a sense of camaraderie with the guys to where they're not thought of as the weaker sex."

Mellen said boxing can save young lives on the ropes. He said peer pressure is the greatest force among young people, and the lack of a strong identity often sends young people in the wrong direction.

"I see a lot of kids in junior high who are wannabees — they want to be in this gang or that gang. If they don't feel good about themselves, then they'll find another outlet. If they don't fit in with some group that's good, they'll probably fit in with some group that's bad."

"If they think they can fight, I'd rather have them fighting in the ring than in the streets. They learn discipline, camaraderie and respect for other people.

"I'm not saying it's a panacea. It doesn't work all the time."

To doting parents, Mellen said boxing injuries — as a rule — are not as serious as injuries suffered in other sports, like football.

"In boxing the only guy who can hurt you is the guy in front of you, and the referee is there to stop it if it gets too bad. Most of the injuries in amateur boxing are in the hands because of improper wrapping — or maybe a bloody nose."

Padded headgear is mandatory for amateur boxers. They train with 16-ounce gloves and compete with 10 or 12-ounce gloves. That compares to six or eight-ounce gloves and no headgear for the pros.

Another safeguard is the scoring in amateur boxing. Since a knockdown is worth no more than solid blow, the emphasis is on speed and skill — not KO's.

"I can understand (parents') concern. But people who have let their kids get involved in boxing have been surprised."

Mellen takes on some of the parents as students. Libertyville dentist Alan Weisz, 41, is currently Mellen's oldest student. Weisz's kids — Jeremy, Sammy and Mya — are also students.

Mellen said "white-collar" boxing is popular in the city as businessmen are climbing into the ring for recreation and fitness.

"Instead of going out for a martini at lunch, they train and spar. I've given private lessons to doctors, lawyers and other professional people."

Private lessons are the most expensive, but Mellen has plans he calls "doubles" and "triples" to keep the cost down. Friends or workmates take lessons together and then help each other work on the new techniques.

"It's like a buddy system — there's a sense of commitment."

Students can train just for the enjoyment or work toward Silver Gloves and Golden Gloves competitions.

Mellen, 43, has an impressive resume. He earned his bachelor's degree in physical education from Northeastern University and is currently working on a master's degree in exercise physiology. He's a licensed boxing coach through the United States of America Amateur Boxing Federation and a certified fitness trainer through the American College of Sports Medicine. He's also certified with the American Coaching Effectiveness Program.

His face is familiar to students around the county. He's served as a substitute teacher in several school districts and ran the boxing program at the Round Lake Park District.

He became involved in Tae Kwon Do in 1970 and went on to earn black-belt status. Along the way, he began training as a boxer and eventually combined his skills as a kickboxer.

Mellen also teaches boxing and kickboxing at Z's Martial Arts in Wheeling. That dojo is operated by Rob and Jim Zbilski.

Boxing and the martial arts are strange bedfellows because of a natural rivalry, Mellen said.

"It's a rare thing that Master Kim lets us use his facilities. Martial arts and boxing usually don't mix. Master Kim has been very warm to our club, and we appreciate it very much."

Mellen can be contacted at (708) 362-4778.

Class AA baseball finals heading north

The Illinois High School Association's state baseball tournament is heading our way.

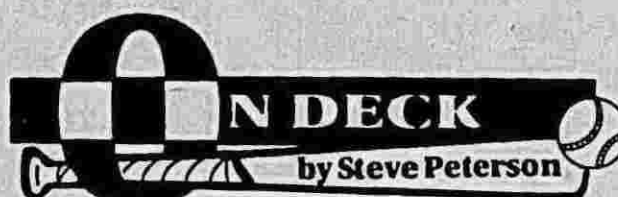

That does not mean more Lake County teams will be qualifying for the Elite Eight, but fans will not have to travel as far, if and when they do. The IHSA is moving the Class AA playoff finals to Geneva, home of the Kane County Events Center.

"This is an economic situation," Don Robinson, assistant executive director of the IHSA, said. "We have been drawing 500 to 1,200 fans each session and that is not very good."

For example, only 200 people were on hand to watch Woodstock gain the third-place trophy with a 9-7 win over Lockport Friday at Lanhier Park in Springfield. The stands were well-populated behind each team's dugout with loyal rooters, but there were too many empty seats elsewhere.

Traditionally, five or six Chicago area teams make the Elite Eight and the trip to Springfield. Class A will remain at Springfield but will be switched from a weekday to weekend final. Class AA, in addition to the move next year to Kane County, will be held on weekend format.

"Three years ago we thought about moving Class AA to Rockford, but we determined it would be about as far," Robinson said.

Carmel is the only area team to make the Elite Eight in the last several years, winning the Barrington sectional in 1990. Woodstock, this year's Barrington sectional winner, did quite well in gaining the third-place title. The Blue Streaks (34-6) barely had time to eat a sandwich in between a tough 12-6 semifinal loss to Belleville West and the game with Lockport.

"It was tough, but I am glad we played now," Woodstock Coach Ed Brucker said. "The kids were down and disappointed because we played so poorly. We made a lot of mistakes."

Blue Streak pitcher Su Chai, named to the all-tournament team, survived a pressure situation in the Lockport seventh. The game was tied 7-7 and the bases were loaded with a one-ball, no-strike count on the Porter's Brett Vance. After getting ahead on the count, Chai got Vance to end the inning with a pop-up.

"I just wanted to throw strikes," Chai, a senior, said.

"Su did a heckuva job, Sean Gallagher (pitcher) sort of saved the day. It was a long, hard day and we're going home happy," Brucker said.

Woodstock scored the winning runs in the eighth. Dave Bishop walked, as did Steve Zimmerman. With two outs, an 0-2 count and the bases loaded, Brian Weiskoph singled for a 8-7 lead. Another run scored on an error.

Weiskoph, who played four positions, finished with a 4-for-5 day at the plate, earning him all-tournament honors as well as Chai.

As for the Lake County baseball contingents, they can take some solace in the fact they battled Woodstock 10 times. Woodstock, the only Fox Valley Conference school to advance to the Elite Eight, won nine times. The only exception was a 17-11 loss to Carmel.

Power-boat racing on tap at Winthrop Harbor

North Point Marina in Winthrop Harbor will be the scene for power-boat racing when the Four Winns Illinois Offshore Challenge Series takes place on Lake Michigan Saturday, June 20.

One of the featured entries will be Courageous Cat, a 27-foot Cougar Catamaran out of Sarasota, Fla. Courageous Cat owners Ted and Scott Grier are back after taking three straight firsts in the 1990 Offshore Triple Crown. Courageous Cat is ranked third in the national stock class.

Saturday's American Power Boat Association sanctioned event will include approximately 60 boats entered in nine classes. The boats range in length from 24 to 47 feet and reach speeds of over 100 m.p.h.

The races will start at noon. The course will run south from Winthrop Harbor toward Waukegan.

The racing event is being held in conjunction with the Illinois State Boat Show at North Point Marina. The show is being run Thursday through Sunday, June 18-21. Show hours are noon until 8 p.m. Thursday and Friday, 10 a.m. until 8 p.m. Saturday and 10 a.m. until 6 p.m. Sunday. A wide array of new and used boats, accessories and water toys will be on display on land and water by more than 70 dealers.

New winners set pace

Three of four feature winners were new ones for the 1992 season at Toft Auto Racing's Wilmot (Wis.) Speedway June 13.

Bob Peterson, "The Brookfield Bandit," scored his first 25-lap sprint car main event leading wire to wire.

Kenosha's Dennis Spitz scored a flag-to-flag win in the 20-lap modified main.

Jim Wicks of Wadsworth wheeled his car to a win in the curfew-shortened sportsman main event, snapping the win streak of point leader Dennis Kratz at 11 in a row.

The only duplicate feature winner was Romy Baus of Rubicon who took top honors in the 12-lap mini-sprint main to close out a 20-race night.

Wilmot Speedway will host Midwest Motorcoach of Gurnee Night Saturday, June 20 with sprints, modifieds, sportsman and dwarf antique race cars taking to "Wisconsin's Clay Center of Speed."

Sunday, June 21, it will be the "Rescheduled Season Opener" Father's Day Special with "a little bit of April coming on the first day of summer in June" as the frozen-out '92 opening card will be on the schedule.

Grandstands open each night at 5 p.m. with the first race at 6:45. For the latest information, contact the 24-hour racelines at (414) 862-2446 in Wisconsin or (708) 838-RACE in Illinois, or the track office at (708) 395-7353.

From Avon fields to Brewer dreams

by DAN BERNARD
Lakeland Newspapers

His dreams of playing in the major leagues were born on the fields of the Avon Township Youth Baseball teams. Now 21-year-old Tim Unroe of Round Lake Beach is on his way there, drafted by the Milwaukee Brewers organization right out of college.

As Unroe reported this week for training in Montana for the Brewers' Class A farm team, his parents said Unroe got the taste for baseball early and stuck to it faithfully.

"When he was 3 years old, the neighborhood kids would form teams for baseball," said mother Alberta Unroe. "They would pick him first before anyone else, because they knew he could play better than anyone else."

The young big-leaguer wanna-be has been propelled by a sense of confidence in himself, his mother said. That confidence could even get irksome to his parents sometimes, Alberta Unroe recalled.

"I would say, 'Tim, you gotta keep your grades up,'" she said. "And he would say, 'Mom, I'm gonna be a professional baseball player. You don't believe it, but I will.' And he was right."

But huge and unrealistic as Unroe's dreams may have seemed, his parents took care to help him continue to believe in himself.

"I would never discourage him from anything," Alberta Unroe said. "My philosophy is to go for the gold. If you want to strive to be the best, then go for it. That's something that I live by.

"And I want to say a little of that rubbed off on him." Unroe is the son of Alberta Unroe of Round Lake Beach and Mike Unroe of Gurnee. Alberta runs a cleaning business; Mike works for the Lamb and Little insurance company.

Unroe's draft into the Brewers' organization comes on the heels of the crowning glory of his college career: Unroe and two of his Lewis University teammates were named to the Converse All-American Team.

Named Lewis' Most Valuable Player, Unroe led the Lewis team to a fourth-place national finish this season in the NCAA Division II Championship Tournament.

Unroe's career from the little leagues to the farm leagues is a consistent streak of standing out. "I've got a room full of trophies from his Little League days," Alberta Unroe said.

Sports was a family affair for the Unroes. Both parents are fans of athletics, and older brother Michael played football for Northern Illinois University when Tim was growing up.

Unroe attended Round Lake Beach Elementary School, Magee Middle School and Round Lake High School, graduating in 1988.

At Round Lake High, Unroe began developing into the right-handed hitter and oversized shortstop he would become. He was captain of the RLHS baseball team and voted Most Valuable Player.

He picked up a two-year associate degree in business from College of Lake County, then went on to Lewis University in southwest suburban Romeoville, where he received a full-ride baseball scholarship.

Unroe's success ballooned at Lewis. This year, he was named Player of the Year in both the North Central Region and the Great Lakes Valley Conference. At the NCAA Division II's Warner Southern Invitational in Florida, Unroe was again named MVP. Then at the end of the year came the nod for the First Team of the Converse American Baseball Coaches Association All-American Team.

His stats during his last year at Lewis included a .383 batting average with 86 RBI; and 51 extra base hits, including 24 doubles, five triples and 22 home runs. He had a .794 slugging percentage and a .507 on-base percentage. Plus, he stole 23 bases.

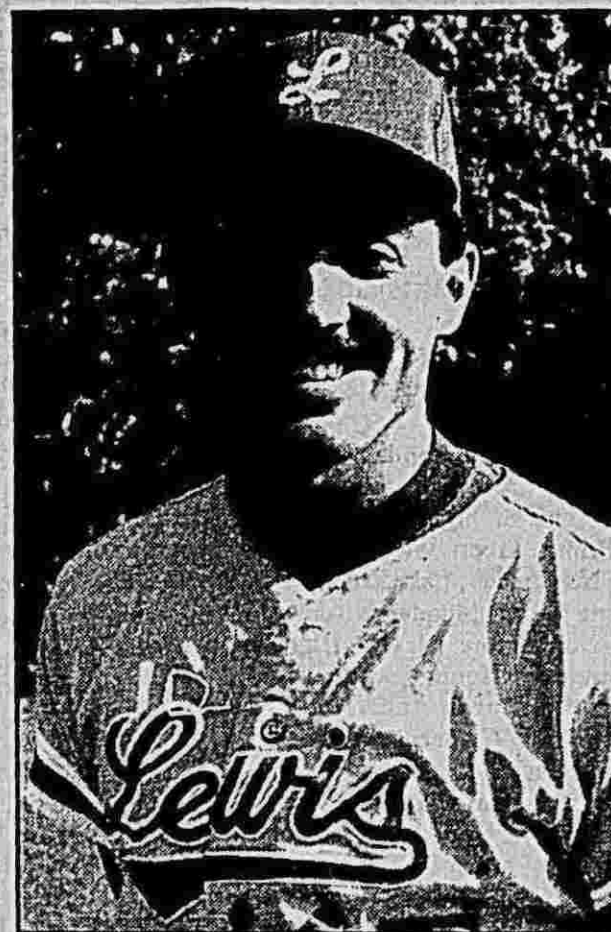

So far, Unroe's found his way toward fame as a shortstop. But he's an awful tall-stop, at 6-foot-4 and 200 pounds. So the Milwaukee Brewers organization, which drafted him in the 28th round, is putting him in the corner at third base.

The talent scout who first spotted Unroe at CLC said he reckons Unroe can handle the switch.

"I just thought he was a little big for a shortstop, but he had all the abilities you need, running, fielding, throwing and hitting," said Phil Rizzo, a Chicago-based scout. "I thought he had the size and the speed and the arm to make a better cornerman."

Depending on a player's ability, he can rapidly climb from Class A to AA and AAA, then to "The Show," the major league team, within five years, Rizzo said.

Since the Milwaukee Brewers have been one of Unroe's favorite teams since childhood — second only to the Cubs — being drafted into the Brewers' organization is the fulfillment of a dream. If he's promoted all the way up to Milwaukee, he'll be doubly happy because his fiancée, Round Lake High grad Simona Mumenthaler, lives in Kenosha, Wis.

Tim Unroe

Unroe's already climbing well. He bypassed the preliminary rookie leagues, going to the Class A or Pioneer League affiliate in Helena, Mont., the Helena Brewers.

He reports to his folks that the adjustment from amateur to professional ball is not a piece of cake.

"In college ball and high-school ball, they hit with an aluminum bat, and in pro ball they hit with a wood bat," said Alberta Unroe. "That means you hit about 25 to 30 feet shorter. That separates the men from the boys."

The Unroes have no doubt which group Tim belongs to.

"I know he wants to go to the top, and he's aggressive enough to get to the top," said Alberta Unroe. "He's like me, and I believe that you can get anything you want. Nothing can stop you if you really want something."

LCLGA tourney coming up

The Lake County Ladies Golf Association's (LCLGA) 21st annual amateur golf tournament will be held July 13 at Fox Lake Country Club.

Tee times will begin at 8 a.m., and play will be followed by an awards banquet at the country club.

The tournament is open to all women with an established USGA handicap of 34 or under. Participants must be Lake County residents or affiliated with a Lake County golf association.

The entry fee of $75 includes 1992 LCLGA membership, greens fees, carts, prizes and dinner. The field is limited to 140 entries and will include a championship and four other flights. Entries close June 24. Entry forms are available through participating Lake County golf clubs or by a phone call to (708)634-3568 or (708)662-7554.

Plan seniors day June 24

A health care pavilion will be a new feature of June 24th's Senior Day, an annual celebration sponsored by the Lake County Forest Preserve Dist. at the Lakewood Forest Preserve near Wauconda. Walgreens Co. of Deerfield is sponsoring the pavilion, which will be staffed by registered pharmacists available to answer questions and provide consultations.

From 9 a.m. to 4 p.m., the free Seniors Day event will feature live musical entertainment. The International Inkspots of Chicago top the musical line-up, with a performance scheduled from 1 to 4 p.m. Since the 1930s, the Inkspots have been performing million-seller original hits in nightclubs across the nation. Their performance is sponsored by the First Colonial Banks of Lake County.

Other popular activities at the event include boat rides, horseshoe contests, fishing and bingo. All Lake County residents that are at least 100 years old will receive special recognition at a noontime ceremony.

A wide variety of exhibitors are also on hand. Participants are encouraged to bring a picnic lunch.

For more information on Seniors Day, call Theresa Rehberg at (708)367-6640.

Lake County Learns to focus on life-long learning concept

Life-long learning for local youth is the focus of a unique community partnership, Lake County Learns. The partnership includes leaders from business, education, human services, government and the community, with staff support provided by United Way of Lake County.

Chairman of Lake County Learns, Charles R. Bartels of Manpower Temporary Services, explained, "The educational needs of young people today are too great and too diverse to be tackled by any one group. Lake County Learns combines the strengths and the resources of several constituencies to address the big picture of educating our youth."

The mission of Lake County Learns is "to create an environment in Lake County where our young people can achieve their maximum potential, as citizens, employees, parents, community members and fulfilled and contributing adults."

The partnership is working to fulfill this mission through four goals it has established: focusing on the educational value of life-long learning; equally distributing education resources; encouraging constituent groups to create specific solutions; and working to lower the dropout rate in Lake County. The partnership strives to ensure that youth completing school are qualified to move on to their next step.

A Steering Committee has created three task forces to implement the goals. The task forces include: Marketing, chaired by Henry Autry of Baxter Healthcare Corp.; Innovations, led by Barbara Brooks of Kemper National Insurance Companies; and Resources, led by Christopher Hartrich of The Benefit Trust Life Companies.

United Way of Lake County President, Jan Edgar, said "United Way of Lake County is interested in helping facilitate Lake County Learns because it brings together concerned citizens who want to improve the education that's available to Lake County youth. The education issue demand our collective attention, and the assistance we provide to the Lake County Learns partnership is one way we are caring for our community."

United Way of Lake

County is a local, volunteer-driven organization that supports Lake County Learns and other community initiatives to improve our community. Persons who would like more information about this program or want to get involved, can call the United Way of Lake County office at (708)816-0063.

Residents to join faith meeting

Congregations from five area villages will attend a major convention of Jehovah's Witnesses this weekend at Cicero's Hawthorne Race Course. About 350 Lake County residents are expected to join a total of 10,000 delegates from Iowa and Illinois at the Jehovah's Witnesses district convention June 19 through 21.

This is one of 153 such conventions, expected to draw 1.4 million participants, taking place around the country in June and July.

Representing Lake County Jehovah's Witnesses will be congregations from Ingleside, Libertyville, Lindenhurst, Round Lake and Spring Grove. Barrington and Palatine delegates will also attend.

At the Hawthorne Race Course conventions, Friday events are to include the chairman's address by Gunther Starr at 11 a.m., the keynote address by Herbert H. Goodwin, Sr., at 12:10 p.m., and a drama presented by Cordell Ivy and 4:10 p.m. On Saturday, a baptism service with Michael Reba is scheduled for 11:30 a.m. And on Sunday, Jack L. Taylor is to give a public address at 2:10 p.m.

Residents interested in more information on the convention may contact Timothy Ortman at (708) 223-1146 before the convention or (708) 544-2432 during the convention.

The theme of this year's annual convention is "Light Bearers," which refers to Jesus Christ's words about providing a good example for others, taken from Bible passage Matthew 5:14, 16. "Let your light shine before men, that they may see your fine works and give glory to your Father," Jesus says in the passage. The convention staff is headed by Convention Manager Michael L. Zemon, Program Overseer Charles I. Wilmarth, and Permanent Chairman Gunther Starr.

There are more than 4.2 million Jehovah's Witnesses in 211 countries around the world, with a headquarters in Brooklyn, N.Y., according to representatives. The district conventions are held annually for "spiritual up-building," representatives state. The Witnesses' faith includes the belief that the Kingdom of God and his son Christ will soon rule the earth. They adhere to Bible predictions and are "neutral" toward earthly governments, representatives state.

New RTA member is Gurnee resident

by JOSEPH SOULAK
Lakeland Newspapers

Duane Carter of Gurnee is the newest member of the Regional Transportation Authority, the body that oversees all mass transit in the five-county area around Chicago. He was named last week as the third consecutive Lake County resident to serve on the board.

He succeeds Sidney Danoff of Waukegan, who has been on the board for 13 years, who resigned June 1. The previous Lake County representative on the body was the late Richard Newland of Waukegan. He served since the authority's inception approximately 25 years ago.

Carter, 59, was nominated by County Board Chairman Robert Depke. The appointment was confirmed by the other board chairmen of the Cook County collar counties. They met last week in Waukegan.

The four collar counties appoint two members of the 13-person RTA board. Gerald Boose of St. Charles in Kane County is the other representative. He has been on the board since it was formed. The suburbs appoint seven members of the 13-member board.

Carter retired in January after 29 years with Abbott Laboratories where he was director of compensation the past seven years. Prior positions with the company include serving as manager of corporate compensation, employee relations specialist and benefits representative.

"I retired when I felt I could afford it," Carter said. "I wanted to take life easy, do some traveling and enjoy my hobbies," he said of photography, woodworking and gardening.

Carter admitted he knows little about the RTA. His first board meeting will be July 9 in the Loop.

"I work well with people," he said of his background in personnel management.

"I hope to apply my business and management background in serving on the board. "But I still have a lot to learn about mass transit.

The appointment pays $25,000 annually.

Carter was among several candidates suggested by County Board members and friends of Depke.

Depke and Carter have known each other for several years. They developed a working relationship while Carter was chairman of the Warren Twp. Committee on Youth from 1982 to 1985. They also knew each other from the Gurnee Community Church where Carter was board chairman and trustee from 1982 to 1988.

Last year Carter helped lead the Friends of the Gurnee Park District in opposing an attempt to dissolve that body. His wife, Linda, works as an executive secretary and office manager for the park district.

While their children were in school he chaired the Warren High School Citizens Advisory Council from 1979 through 1981. This body helped win voter approval for a school building program.

The Carters have three sons. Duane is married and lives in Elgin. Chris lives in Grayslake and Matt, senior at the University of Wisconsin-Stout studying food service and hospitality.

Duane Carter

Carter is also a member of the Waukegan Rotary Club.

The Carters live at 35337 N. Juniper Ct. near the entrance to Great America. They have lived in Gurnee for 18 years.

The RTA has four separate boards; the RTA itself, Chicago Transit Authority, Pace suburban bus system and Metra, the suburban rail system. A current proposal calls for combining the boards into one body as they were before being divided nine years ago.

4-H holds bike rodeo

The University of Illinois Cooperative Extension Service 4-H Program conducted a bike rodeo as well as a rocket launch near the Cooperative Extension Education Center in Grayslake.

"Enlarging Your Cycle World" was the theme for the bike rodeo, supervised by volunteer Stan Wietrecki. Ribbons were won by Scott Rhodes in the safety area, Patrick Barton for maintaining his bike and Scott Barton for enlarging his bicycle world.

The model rocket launch, also a competitive event, focused on craftsmanship, altitude and accuracy, and was supervised by volunteer George Walton. Grand champion ribbons were awarded to Jim Doolittle, Matt Polk and Tim Brayton.

The 4-H program helps youth build skills for living and is open to all youth eight to 19 years old. For more information, contact the University of Illinois Cooperative Extension Service at (708)223-8627.

Three dog shows in county

by AMY E. PRZYTYLA
Lakeland Newspapers

Dogs from all over the country traveled to Lake County this weekend for three independent dog shows.

"We worked together and shared judges, locations, and prize sponsors," said the organizer of the Terrier Speciality Show, Larry Zale.

Over 23,000 dogs participated in the three competitions. They were judged on their likeness to their breeds as defined by the National Kennel Association.

Friday's show was held at the College of Lake County. It was sponsored by the Skokie Valley Dog Club.

The fifteen local clubs of the Terrier Speciality Club ran the show on Saturday at the Lake County Fairgrounds. This was their twenty-fourth year to sponsor the show. The association of the fifteen clubs is looking forward to celebrating their twenty-fifth anniversary next year.

Sunday's competition was sponsored by the Chain o' Lakes Kennel Club. It was held at the Lake County Fairgrounds.

"This is one of the major dog shows in the country," said Zale. "All of our dogs are winners."

Businesses shouldn't be rude

Hi. I am calling in reference to how people who are in business treat people in other business as if they don't think that they are potential customers. I feel that a lot of people that people deal with in business should be also understood that they will also be a potential customer and they shouldn't treat people as being rude. Anyone in the business field should know that. Thanks a lot. I hope this gets printed.

Can I please put you on hold?

I just have one question. How long do people think they can put you on hold for before you will hang up?

Arrow is ridiculous

Hi. Yes, I have a gripe speaking about lights and traffic lights. The corner 134 and route 12, the little arrow that turns by Big Hollow school. All that road construction that they did and that little arrow managed to make it through and you have to sit there and wait on a red light when there is absolutely no traffic coming from the other way. I just think that it is really ridiculous. They ought to get rid of it. Thanks, bye.

Sidewalk isn't Great

Yes, I would like to ask why the sidewalk on the way to Great America suddenly just stops half way to the park on both sides of the street. My husband and I live close enough to the park to walk with our two small boys. But, once the sidewalk stops, we have to walk on the street. Cars go by so fast. It is very dangerous and not very smartly built for pedestrians. Thanks.

Hey, Kirk!

Hi. My name is Laura and I just wanted to wish my husband, Kirk, a happy anniversary. We have been married now for five wonderful years. Life with him just keeps getting better and better. I love you, honey.

Call-in on teachers is all wrong

I'm calling about the guy that called and said that we were paying teachers too much in the June 12 edition. What is his problem? Teachers aren't paid that much at all. Oh yeah, that's gonna be a good idea: let's pay the teachers on the scores of the tests and then we will have teachers pressuring students to do so well on tests. And a lot of students have problems taking tests. This guy should maybe go and sit in a classroom for about twenty minutes one day and maybe he will learn better what he is talking about. He should just shut the heck up if he... He just does not know what he is talking about. That's it.

Call-in not a teacher

I would like to respond on the article "pay teachers as they teach." Obviously the person who called in is not a teacher. If they had listened to the news last December, they would understand that in Lake Forest there was a problem where the teachers do get merit pay. They had a problem with a principle cheating on the standardized tests. If you paid teachers on children's standardized tests, you would end up having a lot of problems. I think that part of the problem is the parents who don't really care and don't put in the time at home with their children like they should. I think that all the teachers try very, very hard to get through to all of their students. It is really a shame that parents think that teachers are paid too much, because it is their children's future. And that's the future of Lake County.

Overcrowded and miserable

This is regarding the Lake Villa Intermediate graduation for 8th graders. I believe that it was almost a farce. So many people were packed into that gym, that it was a great fire hazard. You couldn't see or hear very well. Everyone was given five tickets, but no one collected tickets at the door so there could be any number of people there. I think that either limit the number of tickets given to two for parents, maybe an extra one for a sibling and collect 'em and stick to it, or they find a larger location that they can rent. I don't know why they didn't rent Antioch High School or Grayslake High School or one of the other larger gyms in the area. It made it very difficult to enjoy your child's graduation. Thank you very much.

Car dealership is rude

Hey, this is a great way to really announce to people how rude the people at (local car dealership) are, especially to a friend of mine, and the complete runaround that they have given her. The (dealership) people should learn how to be nice to all their customers. Bye-bye.

Goodies are not good at all

I think that Liz Schmehl's article, "Hometown Goodies", in the Antioch News Reporter is completely useless. I'm tired of reading about her son's birthday party and her friend's Tupperware get-togethers. The only readers who enjoy her articles are the very, very few she chooses to write about. A gossiping housewife does not deserve to write an article in an otherwise excellent newspaper. I am cancelling my subscription until the editors of the Antioch News Reporter get smart and get the lizard out.

Save the environment, not Bush

President Bush's position on our behalf at the Earth's Summit would be laughable if it weren't such an embarrassment. Please save me from his protection. He is there to protect the taxpayer. Who is he kidding? Try this: he's there to protect the business interests. He says we need a strong economy to pay for environmental projects. Mr. President, if we can't breathe the air, the state of the economy becomes a mute point. Sure, environmental responsibility bears a heavy price tag. But, we can't afford not to pay it. Wake up, America. Big business Bush is for the birds, if they can survive the acid rain.

Children are endangered, too

All this talk about endangered species, such as trees, plants and animals. What about the babies that are being murdered while in their mother's womb? Let's put them on the endangered list, also.

No freeway, no traffic, no fair

Isn't it cute that we see these signs "no freeway through Fox Valley?" Isn't it nice that we get all the traffic that is east of that area? Try getting through from Island Lake to Wauconda at 8 o'clock in the morning. It takes 15 minutes to drive two miles. Better yet, try going into Lake Bluff. Of course they don't want the freeway, 'cause we already have all the traffic over here. It impedes us, it makes us late for work. Much less, these aggressive drivers that come from McHenry and Crystal Lake and push us off the road.

A lesson in political correctness

Joe Soulak's article about the potty parity in Round Lake Park Village Hall was really cute, until he referred to the employees as "girls." I assume since they hold jobs and can drive, they are over twelve. And the proper term, Mr. Soulak, is women. Calling them girls is insulting, just like it would be insulting to call you a boy.

Women work, not girls

I was reading Joe Soulak's column and I was wondering, since when does Round Lake Park hire children to work? I thought there were child labor laws. I was reading and it said that all these girls had to run across the street to use portable toilets. Humm... very interesting. Generally villages and things like that hire women to do these things. Maybe there should be an article in here about Round Lake Park's hiring of underage workers.

Small business good for community

Yeah, I have a complaint. I'm a small business man. It seems like most of the people in the area like to shop and go to the major chains, putting the small, little guy out of business. Jewel, Walmart, Sam's Club. What about these small bakers? What about the small meat markets? What about small florists? Seems like nobody goes to them anymore because they are all giving it to the big chains. All the chains are doing is taking it out of the area. You support the small business man, the money stays in the area and it's better for everybody. Let's hear it for the little guy, come on!

Flag Pride important for County

This month of June, as well as July, is celebrating the birth of our nation, Fourth of July, fireworks and all that stuff, flag day and all that. There is still a lot of businesses in town with a beautiful flag pole, but where is Old Glory shining? Where are the Stars and Stripes on some of the business in town that do have flag poles? They don't have the common courtesy or the knowledge or the finances to put a flag up in June and July, of all months? That is the least that anybody can do. I've noticed that even schools are a little bit slack. Even Sears Roebuck, on occasion, won't have their flag flying. So if we are going to get a little patriotism involved in this area, let's show that Mundelein is on the map by having all the flag poles in Mundelein, especially on businesses, show the American flag.

County isn't what it used to be

I am very angry and very sad about what the Lake County officials call growth or progress in the community. I call it the rape of Lake County. With growth has come heavy taxes, over-crowding of schools with the children losing out all around, the trees are being cut down, flowers are disappearing, farmland is disappearing. There is more heavy traffic, more accidents, and more crime. The noise pollution is unbearable, too many homes, too close together, bigger profits for the builders. Gone is the peacefulness of our rural community. If the growth continues, there will come more of the same. Stop destroying the beauty of our earth. We will remind you, Mr. Official, at the ballot box. Enough is enough. Thank you for hearing me.

Catholic school mom not Christian

This is in response to the mother in district 116 that is sending her two children to a Catholic school and does not want to pay taxes for other children to get an education. Now that's a real Christian attitude, isn't it?

Bulls, bars and the fifties

I'm not sure of how long of a message I can leave, but here it goes. My husband and I were in a local establishment in Antioch to watch game five of the Bulls play-offs. It was the third quarter and, of course, there was a big mouth man sitting at the bar. Suddenly, he started making racist remarks towards the players about tribesmen, jungle bunnies, etc. Then his two friends joined in. I was going to open my mouth, but I thought I would draw my husband into a fight, so we just left. Are we still living in the fifties? Or is this the nineties? Get a life, buddy. Bye.

Grant's freshmen are undefeated

Yes, I want to report that the freshman baseball, basketball, football and wrestling went undefeated this year. With baseball going 9-0, basketball 15-0, football 5-0, and wrestling 5-0. It was never reported in the paper or anything. It was the first time in the history of Grant High School that the freshman team has gone undefeated in conference in all of these divisions. And I think that there should be a write up in the paper about it. Ah, the coach for baseball was Kibitlewski, Brian Kibitlewski. You could talk to one of the teachers over at Grant High School in the office and find out more information about it. Thank you.
